Impartial Desegregation Policy Proposed By Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, assuring Southern leaders of an even-handed policy on racial desegregation, says he has no intention of waiting for trouble before enforcing the law.

After meeting in New Orleans Friday with federally sponsored officials from seven states, Nixon said:

"I believe that leadership in an instance like this requires some preventive action. We are trying to take some preventive action and we are getting magnificent cooperation from dedicated people in seven states involved."

The President was greeted warmly on a motorcade through downtown New Orleans. He offered no new policy in his statements about school desegregation, but it was considered significant the comments were made to an audience in the Deep South.

Will Carry Out Law

"I emphasize this is one people, and we are going to carry out the law that way, not in a punitive way, treating the South as basically a second-class part of the nation," Nixon told newsmen in relating details of the meeting with Southern leaders.

But he added, his administration will exercise strong leadership on desegregation "because we believe in order and justice and believe in enforcing the law."

Resistance to integration, the President declared, will hurt most the next generation of Southerners. "They will pay the price, the price for failure of leadership," he declared. He urged members of the local advisory committee to use their leadership to prevent possible disruption and unrest accompanying the breakdown of separate school systems.

Meets With Panel

The President met first with the newly formed citizens' panel from Louisiana. He conferred later with the chairman and vice chairmen of units from Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina, North Carolina and Arkansas.

Before the two-hour conference on desegregation, Nixon held a briefing on national security problems for Southern newspaper editors.

In the news conference, he urged cooperation of news media in telling of peaceful examples of desegregation in the South this fall. "I know of no time when it is more important to hear of the successes where men of good will have worked their way."

Talks To Crowds

Nixon stopped the New Orleans motorcade to talk to large crowds which gathered along the 15-mile route from the airport to the French Quarter hotel where the meetings were held.

American flags—and a few Confederate flags—marked the route. There were signs reading "Nixon Go Home," "Nixon for President" and "Execute all War Protesters."

Student Group Kayoes Disobedience Program

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — After three hours of debate the 23rd annual National Student Association Congress early today voted down 130-134 a proposal calling for nonviolent civil disobedience and paralyzing Washington, D.C., May 1 unless the Vietnam war is ended.

It was a sharp blow to the radical left who fought for the strategy brought to the convention by Bonnie Davis, a Chicago 7 defendant, and Mike Lerner, a defendant in the Seattle 5 conspiracy case.

Fall To Hold Vote

Before they went down to defeat, the left wing of the student delegates managed a 100-100 tie but could not hold their votes on the second tally.

Opposition developed among blacks, Mexican Americans and more moderate students.

Myron Chensault, a black student from Manchester (Ind.) College, told the delegates, who represent about 300 schools, "you're stupid" to vote for the plan.

White "Backlash" Feared

He said the night before he had started to speak out against the proposal but Davis asked him not to because "if the blacks are against it, it will give some whitey-wacky whites" a reason for backing out. He added that the proponents wanted to get "stupid whites" to Washington and get their heads busted and then they'd be committed."

Power Blacked Out

One supporter of the proposal shouted, "There's a possibility and probability of violence in Washington. We have to take a chance of provoking violence on the other side."

Davis earlier in the week had called for nonviolent national civil disobedience beginning in the fall and coming to a climax with students descending on Washington May 1 and shutting down the federal government by blocking roads, bridges and buildings and preventing federal workers from reaching their jobs.

Although speaking against the motion, Peter Denton of Ann Arbor, Mich., called for guerrilla warfare instead, shouting, "We can win it."

Warrants Issued For 'Communist' In Judge's Death

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — Warrants charge Communist philosopher Angela Davis with murder and kidnapping in the Marin County courthouse shooting Aug. 7 that left four dead including a judge, the sheriff's office said today.

The warrants, issued Friday night by Superior Court Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin County, were used later Friday night in a raid by heavily armed San Francisco police on a Potrero Hill district house.

Miss Davis, 28, was not at the house where police found her sister, Paula Jackson, 28, of Los Angeles, whom they questioned and released.

Mrs. Jackson was here to attend the funeral today of Jonathan Jackson, 17, the youth who supplied the weapons for the attempted escape of three captives from a trial in a Marine Corps court-martial.

Young Jackson and two of the captives were killed and Judge Harold J. Hall, 65, when they took with four other persons at hostages, also was shot to death. A third convict and two of the other hostages were wounded.

Miss Davis—formerly an assistant professor of philosophy at the University of California at Los Angeles—previously had been reported by deputies to have purchased the guns used in the courthouse break.

Officers had told newsmen two of the guns used in the incident were registered in Miss Davis' name and said a third gun might have been purchased by her on July 25 from a Los Angeles surplus store.

And, the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner reported today in a copyrighted article, the shotgun that killed Judge Haley was purchased by Miss Davis in San Francisco, just two days before the shooting. The newspaper attributed the report to "investigative sources." San Francisco police had no comment.

Efforts to contact Miss Davis throughout the week had ended in failure, prompting some of her former colleagues at UCLA to speculate she may have left the country.

Miss Davis was the center of controversy last year after University of California regents ordered her dismissed because of her communist party membership. A judge ordered her reinstated and her association with the university was not severed until her one-year contract expired.

Asian Training Plan For Troops Violates Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has agreed to help train 5,000 Cambodian and Khmer-speaking Thai troops in Thailand, a move denounced as a violation of the intent of the Senate-passed Cooper-Church amendment to limit U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia.

State Department Press Officer Robert J. McNamara said in announcing the tentative agreement Friday that no overall agreement had been made. He said that would depend on arrangements to be worked out between the Thai and Cambodians.

But Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, coauthor of the amendment with Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., said it was the second violation of its intent this week, the first being "direct American air support" for Cambodian troops.

Angered Linda Says She's 'Telling Truth'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I'm telling you the truth," shouted Linda Kasabian, her face red with anger, as Charles M. Manson's lawyer began a last effort to discredit the state's star witness in the Sharon Tate murder trial.

The outburst came Friday as Irving Kanarek challenged the petite green-eyed witness' testimony that she once believed the dandy-haired Manson was Jesus Christ, but stopped believing that during the Tate killings a year ago.

"I guess you would call it a vision," she said. "I had a vision in my head and I saw who he really was when I saw those things happening." The killings at the Tate home.

Kanarek asked if perhaps Mrs. Kasabian still believed Manson was Christ when he took her and other followers on a second foray which she says ended with the slayings of wealthy market owners Len and Rosemary LaBianca.

"No," Mrs. Kasabian shouted. "I'm telling you the truth, Mr. Kanarek. I realized that I knew who he (Manson) was."

Manson, 28, is on trial for murder-conspiracy along with Susan Atkins, 21, Patricia Krenwinkel, 22, and Leslie Van Houten, 20.

Mrs. Kasabian, 21, mother of two babies and former Manson clan member, was granted immunity from prosecution for her testimony about the seven slayings. She was taken out a back door of the courthouse Friday to spend the weekend at a halfway apartment, guarded by two policemen and a nurse.

SUNNY POINT, N.C. (AP) —

An aged Liberty ship loaded with poisonous nerve gas remained in port today, its trip to an ocean burial ground delayed by the swirling winds of a tropical depression.

The Navy had planned today to begin towing the bulk to a point in the Atlantic Ocean where it was to have been sunk on Monday. But Friday night, officials postponed the departure at least 24 hours because of the threat posed by the storm bearing down on the Bahamas.

If the operation is not held up by a U.S. Court of Appeals hearing Monday, the ship is to be sunk with its 418 tanks of obsolete Army nerve gas northwest of the Bahamas, 283 miles east of Cape Kennedy, Fla.

A Navy spokesman reported Friday night the storm was located just south of the Bahamas chain and its projected course will put it in the disposal area at a time that could effect the scuttling.

He called it a big storm that could be damaging. At the time, winds were 44-45 miles per hour, gusting to 63 mph.

PAW PAW, Mich. (AP) — "Mike," a Michigan State Police tracking dog, is also a booze hound.

"Mike" ran off into the woods while being exercised behind a Paw Paw tavern by Trooper John McKenzie—and returned a few minutes later with a fifth of wine in his mouth.

McKenzie released him again and the dog eagerly retrieved two more fifths.

The wine was believed to be part of loot stolen in recent burglaries of the tavern.

Foods Containing Cyclamates Ruled Illegal After Sept. 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — All foods containing cyclamates must be taken off the market by Sept. 1, the Food and Drug Administration has ordered in accepting a report the artificial sweetener could cause cancer.

The deadline is the same date by which all soft drinks containing cyclamates must be removed from grocery shelves under a previous FDA order.

The National Canners Association immediately attacked the order issued Friday. The group estimated the ruling will cost the industry $80 million to $85 million, in addition to the cost of disposing of present stocks.

"We are troubled that in a hungry world such destruction is necessary under the FDA's new ruling," the association said in a statement.

A seven-member medical group advising FDA said use of cyclamates—even in sugar-free diet foods at previously permitted levels—could allow young diabetics to consume amounts which caused bladder cancer in experimental animals.

The panel concluded that a safe-level consumption of the sweetener would replace only 21 calories worth of sugar. "It is evident that the... saying is not substantial and that the benefit as a sweetener has virtually disappeared," the report stated.

The group said cyclamates could be a factor in heart disease by breaking down the heart muscle through calcium deposits.

The FDA originally set Feb. 1 as the deadline for banning cyclamates from soft drinks, while allowing use of the sweetener in dietetic foods which were labeled as drugs.

Accusations Slow Mideast Peace Bid

By The Associated Press
Hopes for quick progress toward a Middle East peace settlement dimmed today as gunfire crackled across the Jordanian border and Jordan accused Israel of trying to torpedo peace efforts by violating the ceasefire.

The Israeli command in Tel Aviv said one Israeli soldier was injured by light arms fire along the border. It did not say whether the fire came from Arab guerrillas or Jordanian army forces.

The Jordanians accused the Israelis Friday of two "flagrant" cease-fire violations, while Israeli officials indicated their government would not sit down to talk until Egypt pulls back the defensive anti-aircraft missiles it reportedly has moved closer to the Suez Canal truce line.

Israeli jets struck at Jordanian army positions and guerrilla camps Friday. The Israeli command said the Jordanian army strongholds were attacked because they assist Palestinian guerrillas and make it possible "for them to act against Israeli civilians."

Jordan complained to the United Nations and the United States that the attack was the second within 24 hours and charged that Israel was making a deliberate attempt to sabotage peace efforts.

Jordanian U.N. Ambassador Muhammad El Farra met with U.N. peace envoy Gunnar Jarving and U.S. Ambassador Charles W. Yost and told them Israel was resorting to "sensationalism and fabrications in an attempt to mislead world public opinion and divert it from the Israeli defenses and acts of lawlessness."

The Middle East cease-fire plan—initiated by the United Nations—was being held up by the United States.

Freak Accident Kills U.P. Youth

CRYSTAL FALLS (AP) — Edward Bueck, 13, of rural Crystal Falls, was killed in a freak farm vehicle accident Friday on Buck Lake Road in Iron County.

Bueck was riding atop a load of hay piled on a trailer which was being hauled by a tractor. The pin connecting the two vehicles broke, Bueck jumped off the hay, landed in the path of the rolling trailer and was crushed.

Israel and accepted by Israel, Egypt and Jordan—includes a ban on shooting for at least 30 days. It went into effect a week ago. In agreeing to the ceasefire, Jordan stipulated it could not be held responsible for attacks by guerrillas, who have vowed to intensify their efforts against Israel.

The Israeli attacks came a day after Jerusalem accused Egypt of violating the ceasefire's military standstill provision by moving missile emplacements to within 10 to 15 miles of the Suez Canal. The Egyptians have denied the charge.

Marine Guilty In Murder Case

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — An 18-year-old Marine was convicted today of the murder of 15 South Vietnamese women and children in a village southwest of here last Feb. 19 and sentenced to five years in prison.

A jury of three officers and two senior enlisted men returned the verdict after deliberating nearly all day in the case of Pfc. Samuel G. Green Jr., of Cleveland, Ohio. The general court martial board handed down the sentence 2 1/2 hours later.

In addition to the prison term, Green was reduced to private, given a dishonorable discharge from the Marine Corps and ordered to forfeit all pay and allowances.

The youthful Marine, the third of four to be tried in the case thus far and the second one convicted, remarked to a friend moments after the sentencing: "Five years for that?" The conviction on unprecedented murder could have carried a life sentence.

Green was convicted of 15 counts of murder, involving the deaths of four women and 11 children. He was acquitted of a 16th count involving another woman.

Viet Claiming Biggest Victory

SAIGON (AP) — Thousands of South Vietnamese Vietnamese militiamen raided more than 80 Viet Cong base areas south of Da Nang today and claimed one of their biggest victories of the Vietnam war.

Led to the jungle camps and staging areas by Viet Cong defectors, the militiamen claimed killing 125 Viet Cong in two days of fighting with no air or artillery support. South Vietnamese losses were put at four killed and 11 wounded.

A high-ranking American advisor said the enemy dead included a lieutenant colonel, the military province chief of the region stretching from Da Nang 40 miles southward. Three other top-ranking Viet Cong officers also were believed killed, including the chief political officer.

Meanwhile, U.S. B52 bombers pounded North Vietnamese positions on both sides of the Laotian and Cambodian borders today in efforts to stem a threat to South Vietnamese forces.

The bombers dropped 750 tons of bombs on North Vietnamese base camps and supply and staging areas between besieged Firebase O'Reilly and the Laotian border. Additional waves of B52s hit near North Vietnamese positions on the other side of the border.

Jones, who will receive an annual salary of $10,000, succeeds John Gannon of Eganaba in the position. Gannon, who served on the Housing Commission, has been employed as an interim director, the commission said.

Jones' appointment is effective immediately and he is expected to arrive in Eganaba Monday to assume his new duties Tuesday.

A native of Livonia, Jones brings to Eganaba an extensive background in public service. Since 1954, he has served the City of Livonia in various capacities, including chairman of the Building Authority, assistant director of public works and president of the Livonia Housing Commission.

Jones, who will not reside in the new Harbor Tower apartment building, is married and is the father of two children.

MSU Arrests Legal: Judge

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A federal district judge in Grand Rapids has ruled that arrests of 125 demonstrators during a sit-in at Michigan State University last May were legal.

The ruling Friday by Judge Noel Fox clears the way for prosecution of the 125 on state charges of trespassing, which may begin next Thursday, according to the Michigan County Prosecutor's office.

The group appeared in court for three days last month, arguing that they had a right to free speech and were violated when they were arrested during a peaceful sit-in at the MSU Student Union after the building had closed at 5 p.m. May 15.

A suit brought by the group against the University of Michigan Board of Trustees, MSU President Clinton Warren Jr., Eganaba County Prosecutor Raymond S. Boudreau and Eganaba County law enforcement officers.

The demonstrators claimed their arrests had a "chilling" impact on freedom of speech at MSU.

Judge Fox commented today, "It is unfortunate that every act of protest which involves the use of force or violence is automatically prohibited, and that the rights of free expression."

State Park Use Setting Records

Daily attendance and camping numbers, like the temperature, are shooting upward at state parks in Michigan this season and they appear well on their way to reaching record highs in 1970, reports the Department of Natural Resources.

Figures tabulated by the DNR through late July show that Michigan's 70 state-owned parks and recreation areas have drawn 11 million day users, about one million more than a year ago.

Through that same period, state park workers issued more than 281,000 camping permits, topping the total for the end of last July by 27,000.

For the entire 1969 season, state parks hosted a record 15 million day users and 400,000 camping families. Latest figures tallied for daily attendance and camping are running 10 and 18 per cent ahead of the pace which set those high marks in 1969.

While state park use is up this season, turnover totals are down and that combination of things "suits us just fine," reports DNR parks chief Robert O. Dodge.

State parks and recreation areas in southern Michigan continue to be the biggest crowd-getters this season. They have hosted more than 7 million day users and 84,000 camping families. A year ago, they had drawn 6.2 million day users and 73,700 camping groups.

In the northern Lower Peninsula, state parks have accommodated over 2.9 million daily visitors and 90,000 camping families. At the end of last July, their daily attendance stood at 2.8 million and their turnout of camper groups had reached 80,100.

Upper Peninsula state parks this season have served 976,500 day users and 47,700 camping families. This compares with 944,000 daily visitors and 45,000 camper groups toward the close of last July.

Sturgeon Fishing Season To Begin

A small band of sportsmen will soon launch what could be nearly the last fishing season on the oldest and largest fish species in Michigan, the Department of Natural Resources reports.

Involved is the Michigan-Wisconsin boundary water, the Menominee River, in a hook and line season running Sept. 5 through Nov. 1. Involved too, is a fish in the "prehistoric monster" class which even today goes up to 100 pounds in this river.

And still involved for at least another year is a tiny legion of fishermen who spend hours, days, even a season—without scoring—more often than not.

The fish is the sturgeon. Gourmets call it caviar or sturgeon. Conservationists also call it an endangered species, despite the mini-sized betting average of sturgeon fishing fans.

Michigan fish biologist, Bud Jacob, says reproduction is the key problem in preserving this primitive species, which may have first existed 50 million years ago. He says they don't reach maturity for about 18 years and then don't spawn every year. The slow growing sturgeon, however, has been known to occasionally outweigh and outlive its chief predator—man.

In line with preservation plans, Jacob reports consideration also is being given to a 1973 ban on winter spear fishing. This would protect the only other major Michigan concentration—in Burt, Black and Mullet lakes.

Cooperative studies with Wisconsin are about done on Menominee River sturgeon. Results may help determine if the 43-inch size limit and two-month season are adequate.

Chrysler Joins Ford In Hiking 1971 Auto Prices

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. has become the second major U. S. automaker to announce a tentative price increase in the price paid by dealers for its 1971 models.

Chrysler said the increase will be five to six per cent—an average of about $125 per car. Ford Motor Co. last week announced a five per cent increase in the price paid by dealers for its 1971 models.

The price increases announced so far affect only cars shipped to dealers before 1971 prices are set formally. Both Ford and Chrysler say the final prices paid by dealers can be adjusted up or down once final prices are announced.

American Motors Corp. officials have indicated they plan to raise the dealers' price by about five per cent. General Motors, the No. 1 automaker, traditionally does not bill its dealers until after final prices are announced.

Pere Marquette River May Gain Scenic Status

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's Pere Marquette River may qualify for inclusion in the national wild and scenic rivers system, and some rivers system would not be changed from its "free-flowing" condition, says the State Natural Resources Department.

The department says the final decision, which rests with Congress, will not be made for some time, pending further stream studies and the drafting of a report summarizing a survey of the river. Public hearings also would be held.

A spokesman for the task force studying the question said, however, that "initial evidence indicates that at least a portion of the river could meet the criteria for inclusion in the national system."

The Pere Marquette is Michigan's only candidate among 27 streams being studied throughout the country for possible listing in the system.

Drug Production Hit In Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — A last-minute provision written into the foreign trade bill would strike at countries permitting uncontrolled production of illegal narcotics for this country.

The amendment, by Rep. Charles T. Vanik, D-Ohio, would authorize the President to impose an embargo or suspension of trade with such a nation.

Committee sources said, however, the report to accompany the bill will specifically note that Turkey, a major grower of opium poppies, has moved to limit and control production and is taking further measures.

State Highway Funds Being Distributed

LANSING (AP) — Second quarter receipts for the State Motor Vehicle Highway fund—up nearly $14.3 million from the same period last year—are being distributed to Michigan's counties, cities and villages.

State Highway Department Director Henrik Stenroos reported highway fund receipts for April, May and June amounted to $67.1 million, an increase of more than 18 per cent over the same months last year.

Stenroos said the increase is due to several factors. He listed these as including a month extension for obtaining license plates, an increase in the weight tax for trucks and an increase in the number of cars and miles driven.

The funds come from license plate fees and the state taxes on gasoline and diesel fuel.

Total collections for the fund for the past fiscal year were just under $600 million.

After deduction of $8.5 million a year for the Mackinac Bridge Authority, a 1.5 per cent share of the gas tax to the state waterways commission and collection costs, the money is distributed under a formula set up by the legislature.

The State Highway Department receives 45 per cent, the counties 25 per cent and the villages and cities 30 per cent.

The highway department will receive $49.5 million, the counties $29.4 million and the villages and cities $17.4 million.

The county distribution ranges from a high of $5.3 million for Wayne County to a low of $64,185 for Keweenaw County.

Detroit is receiving the city high of $4.6 million and the city low of $487.

Other counties over the $1 million mark include: Genesee, $1.15 million; Kent, $1.3 million; Macomb, $1.34 million; Oakland, $2.97 million.

Mayor Of City Takes Swipe At Romney

MADISON HEIGHTS (AP) — Mayor Maude Edwards of Madison Heights took a swipe at Secretary George Romney and his Department of Housing and Urban Development in what the mayor contends is an undue delay in acting on a three-year-old neighborhood development program.

And he has received support from his fellow citizens. Rep. William B. French, D-Mich., who said the new Madison Heights "has been waiting in the wings."

"Madison Heights was the first community to be selected as an official test case for the HUD program," French said. "It has been waiting in the wings."

Mayor Edwards said that the HUD of acting on a three-year-old neighborhood development program is an "undue delay in acting on a three-year-old neighborhood development program."

Warren said the HUD of acting on a three-year-old neighborhood development program is an "undue delay in acting on a three-year-old neighborhood development program."

Romney, a former Michigan governor, called suburban mayors to a meeting in Warren to deny the newspaper reports, declaring "there is no such (HUD) policy" but said that to qualify for HUD grants a community "must take affirmative action to prevent discrimination in the choice of a house."

HUD had called upon Warren to name a 15-member Community Board to act as a fair housing council and said this was an original condition for obtaining federal money. Romney released Warren Funds on Betsel's assurance that a board would be appointed.

Romney's wife, Lenore, at that time was engaged in a battle with the State. Sen. Robert R. Stroh, the Republican nomination to the U. S. Senate, which she won in the Aug. 4 primary. A. Hart, D-Mich., in November.

Gerald charged in a three-page telegram to Romney that his handling of the Warren situation was "political" and asked why Warren, "which has given HUD such a difficult time" has received its funding and Madison Heights, "which has complied with all regulations" has not.

Group Planning To Plug Oil Leak In Grounded Ship

ALPENA (AP) — A spokesman for the Federal Water Quality Administration said Friday attempts will be made over the weekend to seal tanks of a long-grounded German freighter leaking an estimated 100 gallons of oil a day into northern Lake Huron.

Oil washed upon beaches in the Thunder Bay area off Alpena led to aerial surveillance which disclosed an oil slick spreading from the ship which was grounded in November 1969, 12 miles northeast of Alpena.

Two months ago an estimated 40,000 gallons of oil were pumped from the freighter's tanks, but William Richardson, Detroit District Director for Federal Water Quality Administration, said it now has been found some 4,000 to 10,000 gallons were left aboard.

The ship is the Nordmeer, and Richardson said it was not ascertained immediately why all of its oil was not pumped out when it originally was ordered cleaned up.

College enrollments have more than doubled since 1960. Largest and dense on the United States Atlantic Coast is Jersey Ridge, rising more than 180 feet near Nags Head, N. C.

Canada Geese At Seney Gain

SENEY — The Seney Wildlife Refuge has gained a record number of Canada geese this year, according to a survey conducted by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

The survey, conducted by Seney Wildlife Refuge Manager John Wilcox, showed that the 1970 flock of geese was the largest since the survey was started in 1958.

Wilcox said that the 1970 flock of geese was the largest since the survey was started in 1958. He said that the flock was the largest since the survey was started in 1958.

Housing Commission Names Livonia Man Executive Director

The Escanaba Housing Commission today announced the appointment of David Jones, 54, of Livonia, as executive director of the Housing Commission.

Jones, who will receive an annual salary of $10,000, succeeds John Gannon of Escanaba in the position. Gannon, who served on the Housing Commission, has been employed as interim director, the commission said.

Jones' appointment is effective immediately and he is expected to arrive in Escanaba Monday to assume his new duties Tuesday.

A native of Livonia, Jones brings to Escanaba an extensive background in public service. Since 1954, he has served the City of Livonia in various capacities, including chairman of the Building Authority, assistant director of public works and president of the Livonia Housing Commission.

Jones, who will not reside in the new Harbor Tower apartment building, is married and is the father of two children.

MSU Arrests Legal: Judge

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A federal district judge in Grand Rapids has ruled that arrests of 128 demonstrators during a sit-in at Michigan State University last May were legal.

The ruling Friday by Judge Noel Fox clears the way for prosecution of the 128 on state charges of trespassing, which may begin next Thursday, according to the Ingham County Prosecutor's office.

The group appeared in court for three days last month, arguing that their right to free speech had been violated when they were arrested during a peaceful meeting in the MSU Student Union after the building had closed at 11 p.m. May 19.

A suit brought by the group named as defendants the MSU Board of Trustees, MSU President Clifton Wharton Jr., Ingham County Prosecutor Raymond Scodeller and Ingham County law officials.

The demonstrators claimed their arrests had a "chilling" impact on freedom of speech at MSU.

Judge Fox commented today, "It is axiomatic that every cooling breeze which lowers the temperature of political activity is not a constitutionally prohibited 'chill' of the rights of free expression."

State Park Use Setting Records

Daily attendance and camping numbers, like the temperatures spurring them, are shooting upward at state parks in Michigan this season and they appear well on their way to reaching record highs in 1970, reports the Department of Natural Resources.

Figures tabulated by the DNR through late July show that Michigan's 76 administered state parks and recreation areas have drawn 11 million day users, about one million more than a year ago.

Through that same period, state park workers issued more than 231,000 camping permits, topping the total for the end of last July by 27,000.

For the entire 1969 season, state parks hosted a record 19 million day users and 409,000 camping families. Latest figures tallied for daily attendance and camping are running 10 and 13 per cent ahead of the pace which set those high marks in 1969.

While state park use is up this season, turnover totals are down and that combination of things "suits us just fine," reports DNR parks chief Robert O. Dodge.

State parks and recreation areas in southern Michigan continue to be the biggest crowd-getters this season. They have hosted more than 7 million day users and 84,500 camping families. A year ago, they had drawn 6.2 million day users and 73,700 camping groups.

In the northern Lower Peninsula, state parks have accommodated over 2.9 million daily visitors and 98,900 camping families. At the end of last July, their daily attendance stood at 2.8 million and their turnout of camper groups had reached 88,100.

Upper Peninsula state parks this season have served 976,500 day users and 47,700 camping families. This compares with 946,000 daily visitors and 42,900 camper groups toward the close of last July.

Sturgeon Fishing Season To Begin

A small band of sportsmen will soon launch what could be nearly the last fishing season on the oldest and largest fish species in Michigan, the Department of Natural Resources reports.

Involved is the Michigan-Wisconsin boundary water, the Menominee River, in a hook and line season running Sept. 5 through Nov. 1. Involved too is a fish in the "prehistoric monster" class which even today goes up to 100 pounds in this river.

Chrysler Joins Ford In Hiking 1971 Auto Prices

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. has become the second major U. S. automaker to announce a tentative price increase in the price paid by dealers for its 1971 models.

Chrysler said the increase will be five to six per cent—an average of about $125 per car. Ford Motor Co. last week announced a five per cent wholesale price boost for all lines but the Maverick and a six per cent hike in the price of the economy compact.

The price increases announced so far affect only cars shipped to dealers before 1971 prices are set formally. Both Ford and Chrysler say the final prices paid by dealers can be adjusted up or down once final prices are announced.

American Motors Corp. officials have indicated they plan to raise the dealers' price by about five per cent. General Motors, the No. 1 automaker, traditionally does not bill its dealers until after final prices are announced.

Pere Marquette River May Gain Scenic Status

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's Pere Marquette River may qualify for inclusion in the national wild and scenic rivers system—insuring it would not be changed from its "free-flowing" condition, says the State Natural Resources Department.

The department says the final decision, which rests with congress, will not be made for some time, pending further stream studies and the drafting of a report summing up a survey of the river. Public hearings also would be held.

A spokesman for the task force studying the question said, however, that "initial evidence indicates that at least a portion of the river could meet the criteria for inclusion in the national system."

The Pere Marquette is Michigan's only candidate among 27 streams being studied throughout the country for possible listing in the system.

Drug Production Hit In Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — A last-minute provision written into the foreign trade bill would strike at countries permitting uncontrolled production of illegal narcotics for this country.

The amendment, by Rep. Charles T. Vanik, D-Ohio, would authorize the President to impose an embargo or suspension of trade with such a nation.

Committee sources said, however, the report to accompany the bill will specifically note that Turkey, a major grower of opium poppies, has moved to limit and control production and is taking further measures.

Timber Cuttings Set Revenue Mark

LANSING (AP) — Timber cuttings in northern Michigan Michigan state forests set revenue records for the 1969-70 fiscal year—producing some $109 million — and provided improved deer supplies for some 100,000 deer, reports the State Department of Natural Resources. The department said pulpwood production totaled some $104 million, sawlog harvests $4 million and miscellaneous products about $1 million.

State Highway Funds Being Distributed

LANSING (AP) — Second quarter receipts from the State Motor Vehicle Highway fund—up nearly $14.2 million from the same period last year—are being distributed to Michigan's counties, cities and villages.

State Highway Department Director Henrik Stafseth reported highway fund receipts for April, May and June amounted to $87.1 million, an increase of more than 19 per cent over the same months last year.

Stafseth said the increase is due to several factors. He listed these as including a one-month extension for obtaining license plates, an increase in the weight tax for trucks and an increase in the number of cars and miles driven.

The funds come from license plate fees and the state taxes on gasoline and diesel fuel.

Total collections by the fund for the past fiscal year were just under $5400 million.

After deduction of $3.5 million a year for the Mackinac Bridge Authority, a 1.5 per cent share of the gas tax to the state waterways commission and collection costs, the money is distributed under a formula set up by the legislature.

The State Highway Department receives 46 per cent, the counties 83 per cent and the villages and cities 20 per cent.

The highway department will receive $40.8 million, the counties $29.6 million and the villages and cities $17.4 million.

The county distribution ranges from a high of $5.3 million for Wayne County to a low of $64,183 for Keweenaw County.

Detroit is receiving the city high of $4.03 million and Lake Angelus, Oakland County, the low of $427.

Other counties over the $1 million mark include: Genesee, $1.12 million; Kent, $1.2 million; Macomb, $1.24 million; Oakland, $2.07 million.

Group Planning To Plug Oil Leak In Grounded Ship

ALPENA (AP) — A spokesman for the Federal Water Quality Administration said Friday attempts will be made over the weekend to seal tanks of a long-grounded German freighter leaking an estimated 100 gallons of oil a day into northern Lake Huron.

Oil washed upon beaches in the Thunder Bay area off Alpena led to aerial surveillance which disclosed an oil slick spreading from the ship which went aground in November 1966, 12 miles northeast of Alpena.

Two months ago an estimated 49,000 gallons of oil were pumped from the freighter's tanks, but William Richardson, Detroit district director for the Federal Water Quality Administration, said it now has been found some 6,000 to 10,000 gallons were left aboard.

The ship is the Nordmeer, and Richardson said it was not ascertained immediately why all of its oil was not pumped out when it originally was ordered cleaned up.

Mayor Of City Takes Swipe At Romney

MADISON HEIGHTS (AP) — Mayor Monte Gerald of Madison Heights has taken a blast at Secretary George Romney and his Department of Housing and Urban Development for what the mayor contends is undue delay in acting on a three-year-old neighborhood development program.

And he has received support from his congressman, Rep. William Broomfield, R-Mich., who said the way Madison Heights "has been treated is a crime."

"Madison Heights was, for example," Broomfield said, "the first community in the area to pass an ordinance for equal opportunity in employment and housing. It has cooperated in every HUD requirement."

Mayor Ted Bates of nearby Warren raised a ruckus and got $2.8 million in HUD funds turned loose for his city. Bates accused HUD of foot-dragging on a Warren application for a neighborhood development program and pointed out newspaper reports saying HUD intended to use Warren as an example to forcing integration in nearly all white suburbs.

Romney, a former Michigan governor, called suburban mayors to a meeting in Warren to deny the newspaper reports, declaring "there is no such (HUD) policy" but said that to qualify for HUD grants a community "must take affirmative action to prevent discrimination in the choice of a house."

HUD had called upon Warren to name a 15-member Community Board to act as a fair housing council and said this was an original condition for obtaining federal money. Romney released Warren Funds on Bates' assurance such a board would be appointed.

Romney's wife, Lenore, at that time was engaged in a battle with State Sen. Robert Huber, R-Troy, for the Republican nomination to the U. S. Senate, which she won in the Aug. 4 primary. She will oppose Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., in November.

Gerald charged in a three-page telegram to Romney that his handling of the Warren situation was "political" and asked why Warren, "which has given HUD such a difficult time" has received its funding and Madison Heights, "which has complied with all regulations" has not.

Canada Geese At Seney Gain

SENEY — The Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife said today that as a result of protection from excessive hunting loss the Seney National Wildlife Refuge flock of giant Canada geese has grown to nearly 300 nesting pairs.

The annual nesting survey, completed in June, tallied 272 nests compared to 243 last year. These are the largest number of nests located since the survey was started in 1963.

Refuge Manager John Wilbrecht said that the 272 nests had 1,387 eggs of which 1,181 hatched. Not all of these goslings will survive to flight, however, as bird malaria (or Leucocytozoon), predation and other mortality factors cut into the young before fall.

Based on brood counts and other surveys it is estimated that at least 30 per cent of the young will not survive. A final determination of survival will not be available until September when all the birds have completed the moult and are gathering into larger and more obvious flocks.

As usual, the goslings experienced losses due to the disease Leucocytozoon, transmitted by black flies. However, the disease this year appeared to be less severe than 1968 and 1969 when 70 and 50 per cent respectively of the young died.

The flock has made an encouraging recovery from its population low of 500 in 1966. Most of this increase can be attributed to reduced local hunting kill due to a four year closed hunting season near the refuge.

In addition the Tennessee National Wildlife Refuge, where the main flock winters, has also discontinued hunting.

The flock is now nearing the goal of 300 productive, breeding pairs for the refuge habitat set several years ago as a minimum needed to sustain the flock against heavy local hunting losses and die-offs due to Leucocytozoon.

Refuge and State Waterfowl biologists met recently to review the flock's progress and noted that as the goal of breeding birds is reached, some limited hunting harvest may be allowed. As a result they have recommended to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources Game Commission an experimental shortened season which would place certain restrictions on hunting in what was formerly the Seney Closed Area.

Several of the restrictions recommended were a one bird daily bag and possession limit, no more than a 30-day season and a total kill not to exceed a predetermined number of birds.

Wilbrecht said that further information would be available after the Game Commission makes its final decision at their August regulations meeting.

Nuclear Plants' Radiation Ruled Big Cancer Risk

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — A nuclear scientist said Friday potential radiation from planned nuclear power plants on Lake Erie could increase the risk of cancer and leukemia for nearby communities.

"Even low levels radiation could cause genetic damage over extended periods of time," Dr. Irwin Oster told a group investigating Lake Erie pollution. Dr. Oster is a Bowling Green State University of Ohio scientist.

One of the main concerns of the group is the construction of a nuclear power station near Port Clinton, Ohio.

Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and Ontario, Canada were represented.

Federal statistics presented showed the station would raise the temperature of Lake Erie three degrees, which would likely disturb Walleye spawning beds.

State Rep. David Hays of Erie also appeared before the group, saying: "Right now Pennsylvania has plans for more nuclear plants than any state in the union."

State Drownings Nearing Record

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan is headed for a record number of water deaths this year, predicts Col. Frederick Davis, state police director.

Davis said provisional figures indicate a long, hot summer already has claimed more drowning victims than last year of this time.

The total reported drowning deaths as of Aug. 1 was 161. However, a state police spokesman said today, there are at least 60 known drownings which have not filtered through the official reporting system yet. The spokesman said that figure could be as high as 160. He said it sometimes takes several weeks for a report of a drowning to reach state police headquarters from local agencies.

Davis firmly forecast the death total for the year would top last year's former high of 347.

In addition to the torrid spell, Davis said, there has been more unsupervised swimming and use of dangerous areas such as gravel pits for swim parties.

Davis said he is highly concerned with the remaining weeks of the summer.

The three weeks prior to Labor Day always are critical for water safety, he said.

A state police spokesman said from two-thirds to three-quarters of the drownings in Michigan occur in nonboating situations.

The state police director noted that home swimming pools, for example, are taking an increasing toll — 26 victims last year.

Davis suggested as safety measures:

- Parents, watch young children near any water.
- Swim with the buddy system, never swim alone.
- Avoid gravel pits and other restricted and unsupervised areas.
- Do not be complacent about the safety of the back yard pool.

Southfield Man Seeks Nomination As U-M Regent

DETROIT — Richard H. McManus, prominent Southfield businessman who has long been active in state educational and civic affairs and Republican party politics, announced that he is seeking one of the Republican nominations for the University of Michigan Board of Regents.

McManus, 55, is president of R. H. McManus & Co., a construction and engineering firm based in Michigan and a principal in two investment companies and two technical research firms.

McManus graduated from the University of Michigan in 1934 with a degree in engineering and has been continually active in organizations that help support the school.

He is a past chairman of the Regents' Alumni Scholarship Fund, past chairman of the Detroit Advisory Committee of the U of M Development Council, a member of the executive committee of the U of M President's Club and a past governor of the University of Michigan Club in Detroit.

Two nominees for the U of M Board of Regents will be selected by Michigan Republicans at their state convention in Detroit Aug. 28-29. They will run in the Nov. 3 election against two nominees selected by the state's Democrats.

Moon Craters Will Carry Names Of U.S. Astronauts

BOSTON (AP) — The world's astronomers, meeting Monday in Brighton, England, will name three small craters on the visible face of the moon for Neil Armstrong and Edwin Aldrin, the first men to walk on the moon, and for Michael Collins, their Apollo 11 comrade who orbited above them, the Boston Globe said today in a copyright story.

The International Astronomical Union will also name several features on the far side of the moon for the late Yuri Gagarin, the first man to fly in space, and for several other dead and living Soviet cosmonauts, the Globe said.

The triennial assembly of astronomers will also act on a list of 500 lunar place names proposed for approval including the names of writers, scientists and Greek mythological figures. All but a few of the newly named sites are on the hidden far side of the moon and have been designated only by numbers.

Milliken Names Health Director, Asks Upgrading

LANSING (AP)—Gov. William Milliken named Dr. E. Gordon Yudashkin as Michigan director of mental health this week and urged him to undertake a "top-to-bottom" review that could streamline the department.

Yudashkin, former superintendent of the Northville State Hospital, has served as acting department director since May 1, when Dr. William Anderson retired as director.

Milliken said Yudashkin has "consistently proven that he possesses all necessary qualities to bring about active, vitalized state achievement in the vitally important mental health area."

In a letter to Yudashkin, the governor outlined what he expected of the new director, including implementation of a regional plan that Milliken said "should improve the department's responsiveness to citizens' needs."

The plan, Milliken said, also would "provide opportunity for open and frank dialogue with local people."

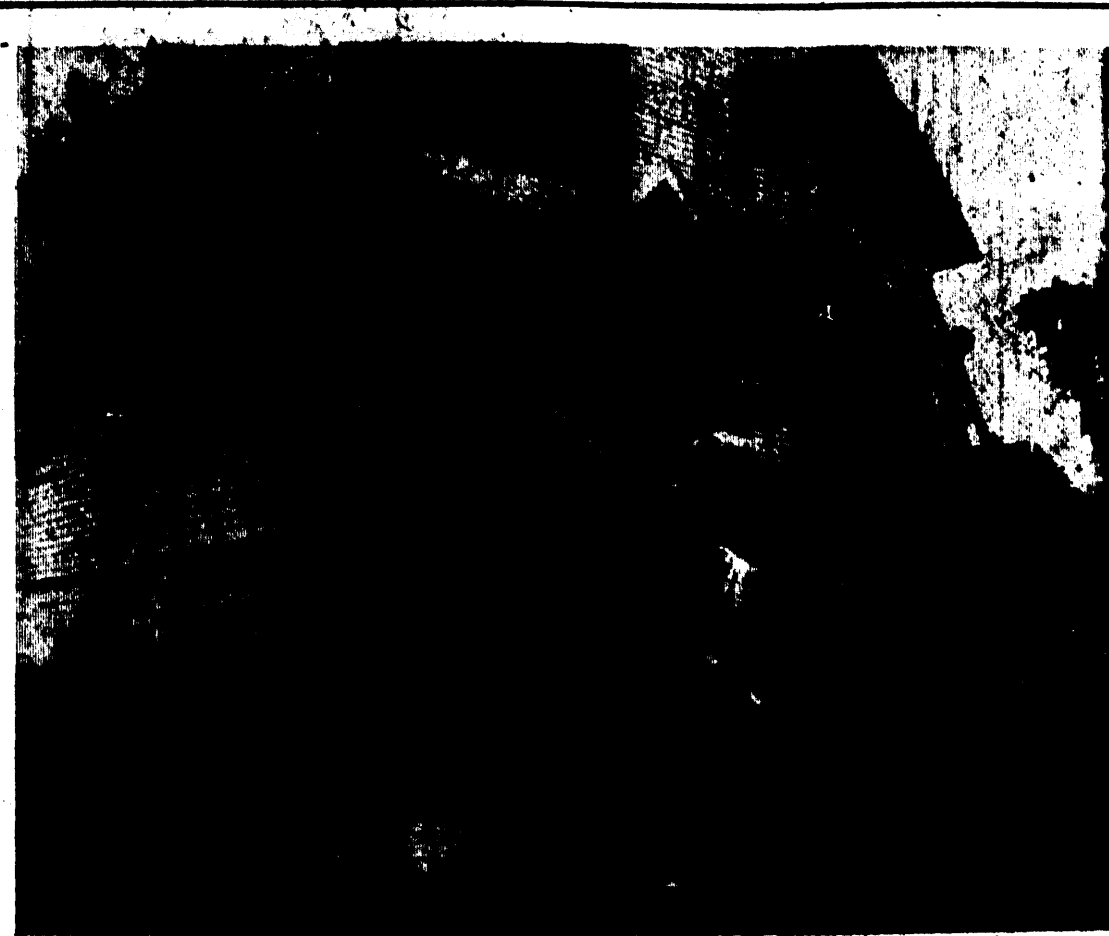

Group Approves Stronger Measure For Dope Raids

WASHINGTON (AP) — A narcotics control bill allowing police under some conditions to break into homes without warning has been approved by the House Commerce Committee.

The idea of the no-knock provision is to prevent destruction of evidence.

The bill lowers penalties for drug possession, provides for rehabilitation of addicts and drug research, and generally parallels proposals made by the Nixon administration. It would cost about $400 million.

The measure applies to barbiturates, amphetamines, tranquilizers, marijuana and the hallucinogens, such as LSD. It also seeks to control imports and exports of hard narcotics.

GM Offers Nader $425,000 In Suit

NEW YORK (AP) — General Motors Corp. has agreed to pay consumer advocate Ralph Nader $425,000, in his invasion of privacy case, his attorneys announced.

Nader sued the nation's largest auto manufacturer four years ago for some $5 million to compensate for what he claimed was "harassment and intimidation" and invasion of his privacy.

The case, which the attorneys said was settled out of court, stemmed from Nader's attack in 1966 on the failure of auto manufacturers, including General Motors, to design safe cars.

General Motors, Nader's suit contended, had hired a private investigation agency, Vincent Gillen Associates, Inc., to inquire into Nader's private life.

The suit said that the GM investigation was designed "to harass and intimidate" Nader so that he and other potential critics of GM products would be restrained from publicizing information about them.

General Motors said in Detroit that settlement of the lawsuit at this time was considered desirable in order to avoid a very substantial additional expense and demands upon the time of corporation personnel which could be incident to trial and subsequent appeal of the case.

General Motors said it has and does deny any wrongdoing or legal liability in connection with the Nader claims. It said the settlement in no respect constitutes an admission of any of the claims asserted by Nader.

Hoyer Elected Michigan Tech Board Chairman

HOUGHTON — Advertising bids for the ice arena, which is Phase 1 of the Michigan Technological University student development complex, could take place in September, according to action taken by the Board of Control at MTU Friday.

The Board gave final approval of the project with a tentative bid opening set for early November and possible construction start in early December on the $1,500,000 ice arena.

Russell F. Hoyer, president and chairman of the Board of the Upper Peninsula Power Company, Houghton, was elected chairman of the Board of Control at the meeting and will take office at the February meeting of the Board. He presently is vice-chairman of the Board.

In a report, "Michigan Tech in the Sixties," President Raymond L. Smith said that the decade of the sixties has seen improvements and major additions in academic programs, growth without loss of quality of student body, and major steps have been taken in physical plant growth. University enrollment grew from 2,678 students in 1960-61 to 4,668 in 1969-70.

In other action, the Board recommended preliminary studies for a new physical plant building and the development of two new pay parking lots on campus.

Break Possible In Kidnap Case

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — A meeting in a Uruguayan jail cell may hold the key to the release of an American agronomist and a Brazilian diplomat held hostage by anti-government guerrillas.

Raul Bende, 44, a top leader of the Tupamaros rebels who was arrested last week during a search for the hostages, met Friday night with other jailed Tupamaros, presumably to discuss the fate of Claude L. Fly, 65, an agriculture adviser from Fort Collins, Colo., and Brazilian Consul Aloysio Mares Dias Gornick, 41.

Police and government officials refused to comment on the meeting in the Punta Carretas prison near Montevideo, where an estimated 200 Tupamaros are imprisoned.

But there was speculation that it marked the beginning of some sort of negotiation between the guerrillas and the police or between the jailed guerrillas and the kidnappers. The kidnappers have demanded the release of all political prisoners in Uruguay as ransom. The government has refused repeatedly to deal with them.

Some sources said the meeting indicated that the imprisoned guerrilla leaders have been guiding the Tupamaros movement from prison. A police spokesman, asked his opinion, replied: "Apparently they have."

LANSING (AP) — The State Aeronautics Commission has announced that bids will be opened Sept. 3 on a proposed $200,000 terminal building at the Emmet County airport at Pellston.

Paper Erred On Kent Story, Editor Says

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—John S. Knight, editor and president of the Akron Beacon Journal, says the newspaper erred in saying the FBI "concluded"—instead of "reported"—on the shootings at Kent State.

But Knight expressed surprise "at the hostile tone" of a letter he received from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. He said Hoover's letter "is evidently intended to mollify public opinion."

The Beacon Journal said in its story July 23 that it had learned that the FBI concluded in a summary of its investigation that the shootings could have been avoided.

The students were killed during a confrontation with National Guard troops during a campus disturbance May 4.

Copies of the letter from Hoover to Knight and the editor's reply were published in Aug. 7 editions of the Akron newspaper.

"I thought you would want to know that this inaccurate article—which has been quoted by news media across the nation—has caused scores of knowledgeable and concerned citizens to write inquiring whether the FBI has departed from its time-honored role of serving strictly as an investigative agency and not as a prosecutor, jury or judge of the facts gathered by our agents, such as you have strongly implied."

Knight, in his reply, said, "It is interesting to note that you have not contested the pertinent information contained in our story, but only the notation that the FBI made a 'conclusion' about the tragedy at Kent State."

The publisher added that "There is no occasion to lecture the editor, for, as you know, we are quite as dedicated to the quest for truth as the FBI."

Nixon Aide Says Racism Involved In Campus Deaths

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The head of President Nixon's Commission on Campus Unrest says racism was involved in the police fusillade at Jackson State College when two black youths were killed.

William W. Scranton, former governor of Pennsylvania and commission chairman, summed up his views after a three-day hearing on the May 14 shooting at the predominantly Negro college.

"I think it's very clear that racism is the major problem involved in the Jackson State incident," he said.

"I don't mean to insinuate that there is no racism anywhere else... but it seems to be outstandingly so here, from the testimony we have heard," Scranton added.

Some others on the nine-member commission were outspokenly critical of the police volley, which sent some 250 rifle and shotgun rounds into a girls' dormitory.

Epidemic Of Corn Blight Confirmed

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — An epidemic of southern leaf blight, a fungus disease which attacks corn, is spreading across the United States and could destroy 50 per cent or more of the 1970 corn crop, a group of scientists and seed producers says.

The group, meeting at the University of Georgia, said in a series of reports Friday it had confirmed that the disease had hit the nation's corn belt and reached the epidemic stage as far north as Des Moines, Iowa, and Terre Haute, Ind.

They also said it may have spread into Canada.

Agriculture Department spokesmen in Washington said the disease had been found in at least 60 Illinois counties and as far north as Wisconsin. They said reliable estimates of damage in most areas were difficult to obtain but that field reports said corn production had been cut by 50 per cent in Mississippi and also reduced in other Southern areas.

Plant pathologists at Iowa State University said the blight had been spotted on one to two per cent of the plants in eastern and central Iowa.

A spokesman for the group in Athens, including 125 agriculturalists from 10 corn-growing states, said the seriousness of the disease cannot be fully determined until after the fall harvest. However, he said that some members "are predicting that as much as 50 per cent or more of this year's anticipated yield could be lost."

The Department of Agriculture

is estimating this year's corn crop at 4.8 billion bushels.

At current prices, the officials said, such a loss could cost the nation's farmers more than $2.5 billion in income.

One of the agriculturalists said this would send corn prices skyrocketing, increasing costs for producers of poultry and livestock, because corn is a primary feed for both.

The officials said their estimates were based on what already has occurred in six Southern states.

"We don't know that it will hit the Midwest as hard as it has here," said one Southern scientist who asked that he not be quoted by name. "We're hoping and praying that it doesn't, but it's going to be a touch-and-go situation at best."

The officials—federal and state scientists, corn breeders and seed growers—met to share research data in a battle to cope with the disease.

Ag Group Meets

LANSING (AP) — The State Agriculture Commission plans to review department activities and evaluate progress in developing new consumer protection programs during its monthly meeting, to be held at Houghton, Aug. 19-20. Accident Injures Driver, Passenger

An automobile accident on Forest Service Rd. 2228, three miles north of County Rd. 442 in Nahma Township, caused injuries to two young men at 7:45 p. m. Friday.

Mullen was taken to St. Francis Hospital, where he was treated and released and Kaniateck sought his own treatment.

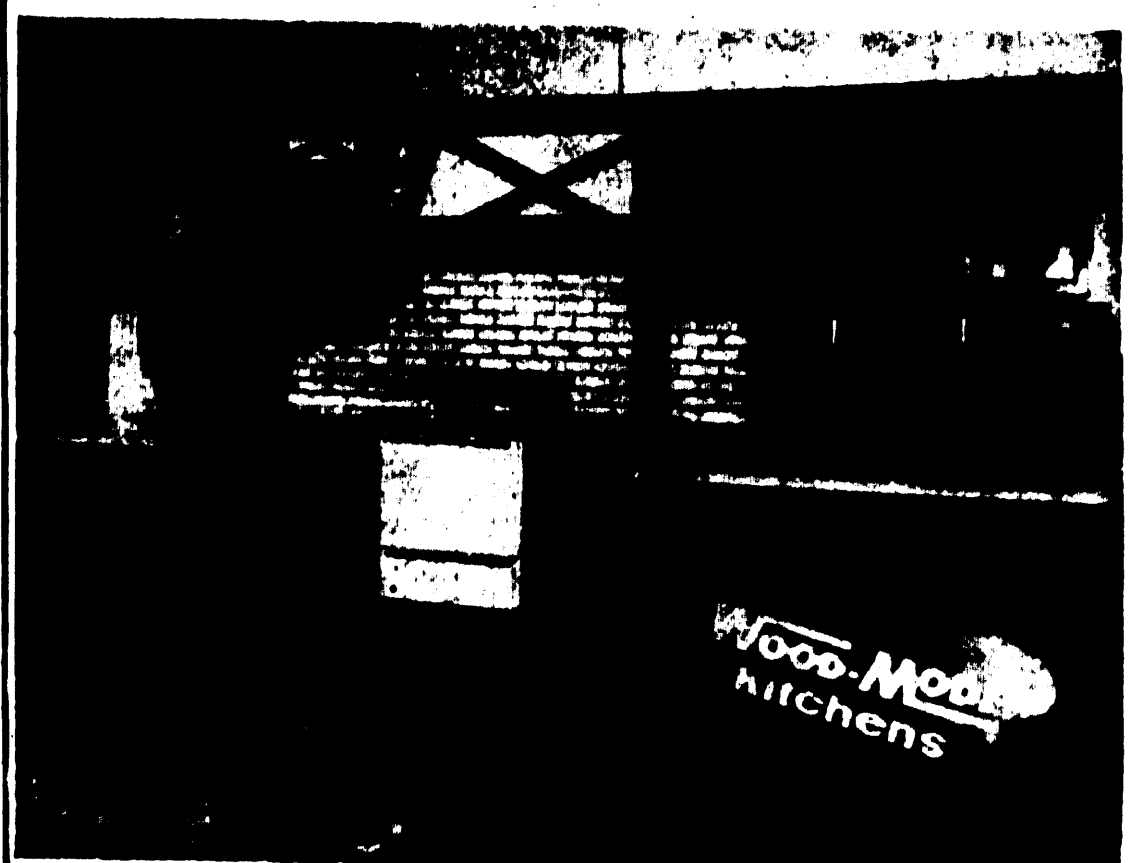

Kaniateck told state police officers that he met another vehicle while going around a curve and turned off the road to avoid hitting the other car. His car hit soft sand on the shoulder of the road and then struck a tree.

Kaniateck was ticketed for no operator's license.

State Drownings Nearing Record

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan is headed for a record number of water deaths this year, predicts Col. Fredrick Davids, State Police director.

Davids said provisional figures indicate a long, hot summer already has claimed more drowning victims than last year at this time.

The total reported drowning deaths as of Aug. 1 was 161. However, a State Police spokesman said today, there are at least 60 known drownings which have not filtered through the official reporting system yet. The spokesman said that figure could be as high as 100. He said it sometimes takes several weeks for a report of a drowning to reach State Police headquarters from local agencies. Davids firmly forecast the death total for the year would top last year's former high of 347.

In addition to the torrid spell, Davids said, there has been more unsupervised swimming and use of dangerous areas such as gravel pits for swim parties.

Davids said he is highly concerned with the remaining weeks of the summer.

The three weeks prior to Labor Day always are critical for water safety, he said.

A State Police spokesman said from two-thirds to three-quarters of the drownings in Michigan occur in nonboating situations.

The State Police director noted that home swimming pools, for example, are taking an increasing toll — 23 victims last year.

Davids suggested as safety measures:

—Parents, watch young children near any water.

—Swim with the buddy system, never swim alone.

—Avoid gravel pits and other restricted and unsupervised areas.

—Do not be complacent about the safety of the back yard pool.

Southfield Man Seeks Nomination As U-M Regent

DETROIT — Richard H. McManus, prominent Southfield businessman who has long been active in state educational and civic affairs and Republican party politics, announced that he is seeking one of the Republican nominations for the University of Michigan Board of Regents.

McManus, 59, is president of R. H. McManus & Co., a construction and engineering firm based in Michigan and a principal in two investment companies and two technical research firms.

McManus graduated from the University of Michigan in 1934 with a degree in engineering and has been continually active in organizations that help support the school.

He is a past chairman of the Regents' Alumni Scholarship Fund, past chairman of the Detroit Advisory Committee of the U of M Development Council, a member of the executive committee of the U of M President's Club and a past governor of the University of Michigan Club in Detroit.

Two nominees for the U of M Board of Regents will be selected by Michigan Republicans at their state convention in Detroit Aug. 28-29. They will run in the Nov. 3 election against two nominees selected by the state's Democrats.

Moon Craters Will Carry Names Of U.S. Astronauts

BOSTON (AP) — The world's astronomers, meeting Monday in Brighton, England, will name three small craters on the visible face of the moon for Neil Armstrong and Edwin Aldrin, the first men to walk on the moon, and for Michael Collins, their Apollo 11 comrade who orbited above them, the Boston Globe said today in a copyright story.

The International Astronomical Union will also name several features on the far side of the moon for the late Yuri Gagarin, the first man to fly in space, and for several other dead and living Soviet cosmonauts, the Globe said.

The triennial assembly of astronomers will also act on a list of 500 lunar place names proposed for approval including the names of writers, scientists and Greek mythological figures. All but a few of the newly named sites are on the hidden far side of the moon and have been designated only by numbers.

Milliken Names Health Director, Asks Upgrading

LANSING (AP)—Gov. William Milliken named Dr. E. Gordon Yudashkin as Michigan director of mental health this week and urged him to undertake a "top-to-bottom" review that could streamline the department.

Yudashkin, former superintendent of the Northville State Hospital, has served as acting department director since May 1, when Dr. William Anderson retired as director.

Milliken said Yudashkin has "consistently proven that he possesses all necessary qualities to bring about active, vitally needed state achievement in the vitally important mental health area."

In a letter to Yudashkin, the governor outlined what he expected of the new director, including implementation of a regional plan that Milliken said "should improve the department's responsiveness to citizen need."

The plan, Milliken said, also would "provide opportunity for open and frank dialogue with local people."

Group Approves Stronger Measure For Dope Raids

WASHINGTON (AP) — A narcotics control bill allowing police under some conditions to break into homes without warning has been approved by the House Commerce Committee.

The idea of the no-knock provision is to prevent destruction of evidence.

The bill lowers penalties for drug possession, provides for rehabilitation of addicts and drug research, and generally parallels proposals made by the Nixon administration. It would cost about $400 million.

The measure applies to barbiturates, amphetamines, tranquilizers, marijuana and the hallucinogens, such as LSD. It also seeks to control imports and exports of hard narcotics.

ONLY A SMALL SPOT REMAINED to be painted on the front of the Hannahville Indian Church was given a fresh coat of paint this week by a group of 14 teenagers from the First Baptist Church of Lansing. The youngsters were brought to Hannahville in a program of the Council of Churches in Lansing. Transportation and paint for both interior and exterior walls was financed by the Council of Churches. GM Offers Nader $425,000 In Suit

NEW YORK (AP) — General Motors Corp. has agreed to pay consumer advocate Ralph Nader $425,000, in his invasion of privacy case, his attorneys announced.

Nader sued the nation's largest auto manufacturer four years ago for some $2 million to compensate for what he claimed was "harrassment and intimidation" and invasion of his privacy.

The case, which the attorneys said was settled out of court, stemmed from Nader's attack in 1966 on the failure of auto manufacturers, including General Motors, to design safe cars.

General Motors, Nader's suit contended, had hired a private investigation agency, Vincent Gillen Associates, Inc., to inquire into Nader's private life.

The suit said that the GM investigation was designed "to harass and intimidate" Nader so that he and other potential critics of GM products would be restrained from publicizing information about them.

General Motors said in Detroit that settlement of the lawsuit at this time was considered desirable in order to avoid a very substantial additional expense and demands upon the time of corporation personnel which could be incident to trial and subsequent appeal of the case.

General Motors said it has and does deny any wrongdoing or legal liability in connection with the Nader claims. It said the settlement in no respect constitutes an admission of any of the claims asserted by Nader.

Hoyer Elected Michigan Tech Board Chairman

HOUGHTON — Advertising of bids for the ice arena, which is Phase 1 of the Michigan Technological University student development complex, could take place in September, according to action taken by the Board of Control at MTU Friday.

The Board gave final approval of the project with a tentative bid opening set for early November and possible construction start in early December on the $1,800,000 ice arena.

Russell F. Hoyer, president and chairman of the Board of the Upper Peninsula Power Company, Houghton, was elected chairman of the Board of Control at the meeting and will take office at the February meeting of the Board. He presently is vice-chairman of the Board.

In a report, "Michigan Tech in the Sixties," President Raymond L. Smith said that the decade of the sixties has seen improvements and major additions in academic programs, growth without loss of quality of student body, and major steps have been taken in physical plant growth. University enrollment grew from 2,678 students in 1960-61 to 4,668 in 1969-70.

In other action, the Board recommended preliminary studies for a new physical plant building and the development of two new pay parking lots on campus.

Menominee Out

Menominee's American Legion baseball team was eliminated Friday in the State American Legion Baseball Tournament, losing to Willow Run by a 5-1 margin in the morning before being whipped by Detroit Edison 14-8 in the afternoon.

Dan Jacques hit a home run in the ninth inning of the morning contest for Menominee's only run. Menominee held a 6-0 lead in the afternoon game until Detroit Edison's bats started to come alive.

Break Possible In Kidnap Case

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — A meeting in a Uruguayan jail cell may hold the key to the release of an American agronomist and a Brazilian diplomat held hostage by anti-government guerrillas.

Raul Sendic, 44, a top leader of the Tupamaros rebels who was arrested last week during a search for the hostages, met Friday night with other jailed Tupamaros, presumably to discuss the fate of Claude L. Fly, 65, an agriculture adviser from Fort Collins, Colo., and Brazilian Consul Aloysio Mares Dias Gomide, 41.

Police and government officials refused to comment on the meeting in the Punta Carretas prison near Montevideo, where an estimated 200 Tupamaros are imprisoned.

But there was speculation that it marked the beginning of some sort of negotiation between the guerrillas and the police or between the jailed guerrillas and the kidnapers. The kidnapers have demanded the release of all political prisoners in Uruguay as ransom. The government has refused repeatedly to deal with them.

Some sources said the meeting indicated that the imprisoned guerrilla leaders have been guiding the Tupamaros movement from prison. A police spokesman, asked his opinion, replied: "Apparently they have."

Sale Approved

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Securities Bureau has approved sale by Fenton Biologics, Inc. of 250,000 shares of common stock to raise funds for new production equipment, office space and working capital. The stock sale, at $3 per share, will be managed by Morris, McKewen & Young, Inc. of Detroit.

Bid Opening Set

LANSING (AP) — The State Aeronautics Commission has announced that bids will be opened Sept. 3 on a proposed $300,000 terminal building at the Emmet County airport at Pellston.

Paper Erred On Kent Story, Editor Says

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—John S. Knight, editor and president of the Akron Beacon Journal, says the newspaper erred in saying the FBI "concluded"—instead of "reported"—on the shootings at Kent State.

But Knight expressed surprise "at the hostile tone" of a letter he received from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. He said Hoover's letter "is evidently intended to mollify public opinion."

The Beacon Journal said in its story July 23 that it had learned that the FBI concluded in a summary of its investigation that the shootings could have been avoided.

The students were killed during a confrontation with National Guard troops during a campus disturbance May 4.

Copies of the letter from Hoover to Knight and the editor's reply were published in Aug. 7 editions of the Akron newspaper.

"I thought you would want to know that this inaccurate article—which has been quoted by news media across the nation—has caused scores of knowledgeable and concerned citizens to write inquiring whether the FBI has departed from its time-honored role of serving strictly as an investigative agency and not as a prosecutor, jury or judge of the facts gathered by our agents, such as you have strongly implied."

Knight, in his reply, said, "It is interesting to note that you have not contested the pertinent information contained in our story, but only the notation that the FBI made a 'conclusion' about the tragedy at Kent State."

The publisher added that "There is no occasion to lecture the editor, for, as you know, we are quite as dedicated to the quest for truth as the FBI."

Nixon Aide Says Racism Involved In Campus Deaths

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The head of President Nixon's Commission on Campus Unrest says racism was involved in the police fusillade at Jackson State College when two black youths were killed.

William W. Scranton, former governor of Pennsylvania and commission chairman, summed up his views after a three-day hearing on the May 14 shooting at the predominantly Negro college.

"I think it's very clear that racism is the major problem involved in the Jackson State incident," he said.

"I don't mean to insinuate that there is no racism anywhere else... but it seems to be outstandingly so here, from the testimony we have heard," Scranton added.

Some others on the nine-member commission were outspokenly critical of the police volley, which sent some 250 rifle and shotgun rounds into a girls' dormitory.

Epidemic Of Corn Blight Confirmed

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — An epidemic of southern leaf blight, a fungus disease which attacks corn, is spreading across the United States and could destroy 50 per cent or more of the 1970 corn crop, a group of scientists and seed producers says.

The group, meeting at the University of Georgia, said in a series of reports Friday it had confirmed that the disease had hit the nation's corn belt and reached the epidemic stage as far north as Des Moines, Iowa, and Terre Haute, Ind.

They also said it may have spread into Canada.

Agriculture Department spokesmen in Washington said the disease had been found in at least 60 Illinois counties and as far north as Wisconsin. They said reliable estimates of damage in most areas were difficult to obtain but that field reports said corn production had been cut by 50 per cent in Mississippi and also reduced in other Southern areas.

Plant pathologists at Iowa State University said the blight had been spotted on one to two per cent of the plants in eastern and central Iowa.

A spokesman for the group in Athens, including 125 agriculturalists from 10 corn-growing states, said the seriousness of the disease cannot be fully determined until after the fall harvest. However, he said that some members "are predicting that as much as 50 per cent or more of this year's anticipated yield could be lost."

The Department of Agriculture

is estimating this year's corn crop at 4.6 billion bushels.

At current prices, the official said, such a loss could cost the nation's farmers more than $2.5 billion in income.

One of the agriculturalists said this would send corn prices skyrocketing, increasing costs for producers of poultry and livestock, because corn is a primary feed for both.

The officials said their estimates were based on what already has occurred in six Southern states.

"We don't know that it will hit the Midwest as hard as it has here," said one Southern scientist who asked that he not be quoted by name. "We're hoping and praying that it doesn't, but it's going to be a touch-and-go situation at best."

The officials—federal and state scientists, corn breeders and seed growers—met to share research data in a battle to cope with the disease.

Fish Dieoff

When Upper Peninsula people talk about pollution they usually cast their eyes in the general direction of Detroit, Milwaukee or Chicago. They nod their heads toward the south when discussing abuse of water, air and land resources. It's something that happens somewhere else.

That's a natural reflex, of course, for people who live in this North Country with fresh water, abundant forests and clear skies on all sides.

That's why U.P. residents are jolted when they encounter a situation that refutes their attitude about pollution being something that happens only to "someone else."

The death recently of hundreds of trout and other fish in the waters of the Iron River in Iron County created such a shock. The Iron River has a spotted history, ranging from clear, crystal water flowing over an alternating rocky and sandy bottom in the early days to a bright orange trickle of iron ore sludge in the waning days of the iron mining industry.

Steady improvement of the quality of the river water has been noted recently. Efforts of the four communities of Iron River, Stambaugh, Caspian and Gastra to solve their sewer deficiencies have helped, as well as use of settlement pits for mine water which contains a large amount of iron and acid.

Officials of the Michigan Health Department, Department of Natural Resources and the Water Resources Commission moved into the area at word of the heavy fish dieoff earlier. A commercial-industrial laundry firm in Caspian was ordered to discontinue use of a cleaning agent which contained mercury. Joseph Bal, State Water Resources Commission official in Escanaba said the firm was apparently unaware that the agent it was using contained mercury, and immediately switched to a different agent.

Bal does not believe the mercury in the cleaning agent caused the sudden fish dieoff. His investigations show that the firm has used the same amount of mercury in its cleaning process since 1965 — about one-quarter of a pound per day.

But something obviously caused the fish to die, and they died in a portion of the river immediately below the point where the Caspian sewage treatment plant runoff enters the Iron River.

Bal thinks there may be a rather unusual cause for the dieoff. For the first time in a long while, there wasn't a single drop of mine water entering the Iron River when the dieoff occurred, he said, because of the use of a settlement pit into which the mine water had been diverted on that date.

It's possible, Bal says, that there is something in the mine water that counteracted the material in the sewage water so that the fish were not affected. When the mine water was no longer mixing with the sewage runoff, it's possible that the fish were unable to tolerate the resulting solution.

Reports from Lansing also indicate that the fish did not die from mercury poisoning. Tests were made by the Department of Agriculture laboratory to determine the amount of mercury in samples of fish taken from the Bruce and its tributary, the Iron River. Bal said tests showed that the amount of mercury in the fish was well within the tolerance level for consumption and that there is no reason to close the streams for fishing.

Bal said that the four communities involved are taking the proper steps to correct their sewage problems. State agencies concerned are concentrating their experience and resources on the problems.

It would be exceedingly unwise to do otherwise. Although the U. P. is a region blessed with great natural resources, it would be stupid to conclude that wastes can be recklessly flushed into the rivers in the belief that nature's capacity to replenish herself is limitless. It isn't.

Peninsula Potpourri

A cargo record for the Great Lakes was set at Escanaba when the Chicago & North Western loaded 27,780 gross tons of iron ore into the carrier Arthur B. Homer, flagship of the Bethlehem Steel fleet, to be transported to Buffalo. The previous record was 27,402 tons carried by the Columbia's Fitzgerald last year.

Michigan Women For Highway Safety, a newly formed, state-wide group whose slogan is "Womanpower comes from the heart" has recently announced the appointment of Mrs. Raymond Postma of Rudyard as the Chippewa County Committee Chairman for Region XI. The new organization, the only woman's group in the state devoted solely to traffic safety programs, has the sponsorship of 25 women's organizations, the Michigan Office of Highway Safety Planning, Traffic Safety for Michigan and Michigan State University's Highway Traffic Center, which is acting as secretariat.

Harry Smith of Pickford fired a hole-in-one on the 160 yard ninth hole at the Munusong Golf course while playing in the Twi-Light Golf League. Using a four iron Smith rifled the shot within five feet of the cup and it rolled in for the ace. It was the first hole-in-one to be scored in league or tournament play on the course. The ace is the fourth hole-in-one to be carded at the course since its opening in 1966.

Four Harbor Springs youths were jailed and charged with possession of marijuana after a South St. Marie State Police undercover man allegedly negotiated to buy a large quantity of the narcotic at a Harbor Springs address. Arrests were Robert A. Foley, 20, William O. McNeil, 20, George A. Boynton, 18, and Marshall A. Coyle, 18. Approximately 50 pounds of marijuana valued at nearly $20,000, was confiscated during the arrests.

Politicians Studying Suburban Population

By DON MOENSHILL
Papers Staff Writer

LANSING — Political chieftains of both major parties are doodling over the 1970 census trying to assess the population explosion in the suburbs before Nov. 3.

The first figures show a mass exodus from the cities and entry with them a portent of reversed strategy.

"It looks like the day is coming when Wayne county will no longer have the state in elections," said Acting Elections Director James Chapman.

Republican Gov. Milliken and his 1970 Democratic rival, State Senator Sander M. Levin, of Berkeley, both are weighing the consequences.

Chapman's speech in Birmingham last April challenged the suburbs to come out from behind their split-level facades and help rebuild the cities.

Levin later exhorted the suburbs to do much the same thing, stressing their dependence on Detroit and calling for solutions to preserve the big population centers. Chapman expects voter registrations to reflect the census. In the past 10 years, Detroit has lost 170,000 residents, suburban Warren gained 100,800 per cent and now has 179,196 population.

Livonia on Detroit's northwest fringe but still inside Wayne County gained 64.5 per cent and now has a population of 100,746 — far above the wildest dreams of Chamber of Commerce boosters.

Ann Arbor gained 48.1 per cent and now has a population of 98,414. St. Clair Shores gained 12 per cent to 94,378 and Mt. Clemens more than doubled its population to 68,383.

Other big losers "It appears that the real big losers in population were the big cities," said Chapman. "This will make a difference in political life."

The big losers were Detroit, Grand Rapids, Saginaw, Flint, Lincoln Park, Muskegon, Bay City and Dearborn.

Most of the growing suburban communities are relatively

new. Livonia and Warren have been incorporated as cities within the past 20 years and now are the 3rd and 4th largest in the state.

Suburban property taxes are high, more than 50 per cent of the population is usually under 25. The costs of creating and maintaining city services and supporting schools are soaring.

In most the biggest single institution is the school system, next come the neighborhood associations representing members with big property investments to protect.

Older cities find the doing of their city councils the most vital to their governments. Suburban cities are more inclined to concentrate on the zoning board of appeals and the recreation departments.

Ward Voice Suburbanites fear the big cities—Detroit because of its street crime and riot potential. That problem is less compelling in most outstate suburbs. There the flight is to find more room, to escape higher city taxes.

Surveys have shown that suburban residents are more conservative in politics and want a greater individual voice in their destination.

They are more inclined to vote for the personality with practical views on taxes, education, public safety and individuality. The suburbs offer a gigantic independent vote.

In the Michigan primary election, Livonia favored conservative State Senator Robert J. Huber for the Republican nomination to the United States Senate over Lenore Romney.

But Livonia defeated equally conservative State Senator George Kuhn by a big score, preferring moderate Carl D. Purrell, of Plymouth, for State Senator.

Examples abound. Back At Boards That's why the staffs of Milliken and Levin are back at the drawing boards, brainstorming to find a fresh appeal to the growing bloc of suburban voters.

Historically, Detroit has been the citadel of Democratic power and its power since 1948 has been wielded by the big automobile unions. Now the picture is changing.

There still remains in Detroit the increasingly visible black vote. The black population of the city now is 42.3 per cent and growing.

The black vote for years has been the private stock of Democrats, until in 1963 former Gov. George Romney made a stirring invasion.

Milliken and Levin agree on the need for property tax relief but have different solutions, both concur on anti-pollution legislation. They agree on many of the pressing social issues.

Milliken favored and fought for parochial and Levin was a leading opponent. It is known that the Michigan Education Association avenged a mass mailing for Levin in the primary.

Senator Robert VanderLaan (R-Kentville), who comes to Lansing from a Grand Rapids suburb, summed it up for everybody after the primary. "Some candidates didn't see the trend and today they're serving brunch," he said.

Al-Anon Could Be Alcoholism Cure

Dear Ann Landers: Me — writing to you. I can't believe it. But I have something to say — in fact I want to shout it to the world.

A wonderful thing has happened. My husband has stopped drinking. He might have experienced this miracle ten years ago if I hadn't been ashamed to admit I was married to an alcoholic. I guess I had to wait until things got so bad I was willing to do anything. Well, they got that bad four months ago. I took a friend's advice and attended my first meeting of Al-Anon.

What great people I met at that meeting! They never push themselves. They just let you know they are available if you need them.

I learned how to handle my shame and anxiety over my husband's drinking. I learned why people drink too much and what members of the family can do to help them. When I became better informed and able to cope with the problem of living with an alcoholic, my husband announced he was ready to go to an A.A. meeting. And this is where the miracle happened.

Tell your readers, Ann, if they have this booze trouble in their lives, to run, not walk, to the nearest telephone. If Al-Anon isn't listed, call the police station and ask where the nearest chapter is. The next step is to go there. It's worth the trouble. — Edmonston, Canada

Dear Ed: Thanks for your letter. Anyone who wants information about Al-Anon should write to the National Headquarters in New York. The address is: Al-Anon, Family Group Headquarters, Inc., P.O. Box 182, Madison Square Station, New York, New York 10108.

Dear Ann Landers: Your advice to Stunned in Stamford was good — as far as you went — but you didn't go far enough. After several months of intensive counseling I now know a domineering mother can make an adulterer out of her son. A mama's boy cannot relate properly to his wife because she is a respectable woman and an extension of Mom. Such a husband is constantly dragging women to bed, trying to prove himself. Sex with his wife does nothing for him because it is legal and therefore respectable.

When these little boys learn to let go of their mothers they develop a better relationship with their wives and cut out the bed-hopping. I know because I did it. — Tyler, Texas

Dear Tex: There are almost as many reasons for bed-hopping as there are beds. Thanks for your letter, I'll run it up the Gargyle and see if anybody salutes.

Dear Ann Landers: Several weeks ago the husband of a close friend made a pass at me. I was dumbfounded by the openness of his approach and the vulgarity of his language. Now I am repulsed by the sight of him and have told on to all his wife's dinner companions and suggestions that the four of us have another weekend together. She cannot understand it and neither can my husband. Shall I tell them both why I don't want to be in the man's company? I'm beginning to look like the villainess and this is unfair to me. Please advise. — Fannie Burton

Dear Fannie: Say nothing. See the woman during the day and tell your husband you no longer enjoy them as a couple. No details are necessary.

Give in or lose him... when a guy gives you this kind of look out! For tips on how to handle the super-nerd alcoholic, check Ann Landers. Read her latest, "Necking And Putting — What Are The Limits?" Fish Dieoff

When Upper Peninsula people talk about pollution they usually cast their eyes in the general direction of Detroit, Milwaukee or Chicago. They nod their heads toward the south when discussing abuse of water, air and land resources. It's something that happens somewhere else.

That's a natural reflex, of course, for people who live in this North Country with fresh water, abundant forests and clear skies on all sides.

That's why U.P. residents are jolted when they encounter a situation that refutes their attitude about pollution being something that happens only to "someone else."

The death recently of hundreds of trout and other fish in the waters of the Iron River in Iron County created such a shock. The Iron River has a spotted history, ranging from clear, crystal water flowing over an alternating rocky and sandy bottom in the early days to a bright orange trickle of iron ore sludge in the waning days of the iron mining industry.

Steady improvement of the quality of the river water has been noted recently. Efforts of the four communities of Iron River, Stambaugh, Caspian and Gastra to solve their sewer deficiencies have helped, as well as use of settlement pits for mine water which contains a large amount of iron and acid.

Officials of the Michigan Health Department, Department of Natural Resources and the Water Resources Commission moved into the area at word of the heavy fish dieoff earlier. A commercial-industrial laundry firm in Caspian was ordered to discontinue use of a cleaning agent which contained mercury. Joseph Bal, State Water Resources Commission official in Escanaba said the firm was apparently unaware that the agent it was using contained mercury, and immediately switched to a different agent.

Bal does not believe the mercury in the cleaning agent caused the sudden fish dieoff. His investigations show that the firm has used the same amount of mercury in its cleaning processes since 1965 — about one-quarter of a pound per day.

But something obviously caused the fish to die, and they died in a portion of the river immediately below the point where the Caspian sewage treatment plant runoff enters the Iron River.

Bal thinks there may be a rather unusual cause for the dieoff. For the first time in a long while, there wasn't a single drop of mine water entering the Iron River when the dieoff occurred, he said, because of the use of a settlement pit into which the mine water had been diverted on that date.

It's possible, Bal says, that there is something in the mine water that counteracted the material in the sewage water so that the fish were not affected. When the mine water was no longer mixing with the sewage runoff, it's possible that the fish were unable to tolerate the resulting solution.

Reports from Lansing also indicate that the fish did not die from mercury poisoning. Tests were made by the Department of Agriculture laboratory to determine the amount of mercury in samples of fish taken from the Brule and its tributary, the Iron River. Bal said tests showed that the amount of mercury in the fish was well within the tolerance level for consumption and that there is no reason to close the streams for fishing.

Bal said that the four communities involved are taking the proper steps to correct their sewage problems. State agencies concerned are concentrating their experience and resources on the problems.

It would be exceedingly unwise to do otherwise. Although the U. P. is a region blessed with great natural resources, it would be stupid to conclude that wastes can be recklessly flushed into the rivers in the belief that nature's capacity to replenish herself is limitless. It isn't.

Peninsula Potpourri

A cargo record for the Great Lakes was set at Escanaba when the Chicago & North Western loaded 27,730 gross tons of iron ore into the carrier Arthur B. Homer, flagship of the Bethlehem Steel fleet, to be transported to Buffalo. The previous record was 27,402 tons carried by the Columbia's Fitzgerald last year.

Michigan Women For Highway Safety, a newly formed, state-wide group whose slogan is "Womanpower comes from the heart," has recently announced the appointment of Mrs. Raymond Postma of Rudyard as the Chippewa County Committee Chairman for Region XI. The new organization, the only woman's group in the state devoted solely to traffic safety programs, has the sponsorship of 25 women's organizations, the Michigan Office of Highway Safety Planning, Traffic Safety for Michigan and Michigan State University's Highway Traffic Center, which is acting as secretariat.

Harry Smith of Pickford fired a hole-in-one on the 150 yard ninth hole at the Munuscong Golf course while playing in the Twi-Light Golf League. Using a four iron Smith rifled the shot within five feet of the cup and it rolled in for the ace. It was the first hole-in-one to be scored in league or tournament play on the course. The ace is the fourth hole-in-one to be carded at the course since its opening in 1966.

Four Harbor Springs youths were jailed and charged with possession of marijuana after a Sault Ste. Marie State Police undercover man allegedly negotiated to buy a large quantity of the narcotic at a Harbor Springs address. Arrested were Robert A. Foisy, 20, William O. McNab, 23, George A. Boynton, 18, and Marshall E. Corey, 17. Approximately 50 pounds of marijuana valued at nearly $20,000, was confiscated during the arrests.

Politicians Studying Suburban Population

By DON HOENSHELL
Panax Staff Writer

LANSING — Political chieftains of both major parties are doodling over the 1970 census trying to assess the population explosion in the suburbs before Nov. 3.

The first figures show a mass exodus from the cities and carry with them a portent of reversed strategy.

"It looks like the day is coming when Wayne county will no longer was the state in elections," said Acting Elections Director James Chapman.

Republican Gov. Milliken and his 1970 Democratic rival, State Senator Sander M. Levin, of Berkley, both are weighing in the consequences.

Challenged Suburbs
Milliken's speech in Birmingham last April challenged the suburbs to come out from behind their split-level facades and help rebuild the cities.

Levin later exhorted the suburbs to do much the same thing, stressing their dependence on Detroit and calling for solutions to preserve the big population centers.

Chapman expects voter registrations to reflect the census. In the past 10 years, Detroit has lost 170,000 residents, suburban Warren gained 100.8 per cent and now has 179,196 population.

Livonia on Detroit's northwest fringe but still inside Wayne County gained 64.5 per cent and now has a population of 109,746 — far above the wildest dreams of Chamber of Commerce boosters.

Ann Arbor gained 46.1 per cent and now has a population of 98,414. St. Clair Shores gained 12 per cent to 86,378 and Mt. Clemens more than doubled its population to 66,382.

Cities Big Losers
"It appears that the real big losers in population were the big cities," said Chapman. "This will make a difference in political life."

The big losers were Detroit, Grand Rapids, Saginaw, Flint, Lincoln Park, Muskegon, Bay City and Dearborn.

Most of the growing suburban communities are relatively

new. Livonia and Warren have been incorporated as cities within the past 20 years and now are the 3rd and 4th largest in the state.

Suburban property taxes are high, more than 50 per cent of the population is usually under 25. The costs of creating and maintaining city services and supporting schools are soaring.

In most the biggest single institution is the school system, next come the neighborhood associations representing members with big property investments to protect.

Older cities find the doings of their city councils the most vital to their governments. Suburban cities are more inclined to concentrate on the zoning board of appeals and the recreation departments.

Want Voice
Suburbanites fear the big cities—Detroit because of its street crime and riot potential. That problem is less compelling in most outstate suburbs. There the flight is to find more room, to escape higher city taxes.

Surveys have shown that suburban residents are more conservative in politics and want a greater individual voice in their destination.

They are more inclined to vote for the personality with practical views on taxes, education, public safety and individuality. The suburbs offer a gigantic independent vote.

In the Michigan primary election, Livonia favored conservative State Senator Robert J. Huber for the Republican nomination to the United States Senate over Lenore Romney.

But Livonia defeated equally conservative State Senator George Kuhn by a big score, preferring moderate Carl D. Pursell, of Plymouth, for State Senator.

Examples abound.
That's why the staffs of Milliken and Levin are back at the drawing boards, brainstorming to find a fresh appeal to the growing bloc of suburban voters.

Historically, Detroit has been the citadel of Democratic power and its power since 1948 has been wielded by the big automobile unions. Now the picture is changing.

There still remains in Detroit the increasingly vital black vote. The black population of the city now is 42.2 per cent and growing.

The black vote for years had been the private stock of Democrats, until in 1963 former Gov. George Romney made a stirring invasion.

Milliken and Levin agree on the need for property tax relief but have different solutions, both concur on anti-pollution legislation. They agree on many of the pressing social issues.

Milliken favored and fought for parochial and Levin was a leading opponent. It is known that the Michigan Education Association arranged a mass mailing for Levin in the primary.

Senator Robert VanderLaan (R-Kentville), who comes to Lansing from a Grand Rapids suburb, summed it up for everybody after the primary.

"Some candidates didn't see the trend and today they're nursing bruises," he said.

The bidding:
South 1♥ Pass
West 2NT Pass
North 3♥ Pass
East 6♥

Opening lead—ten of clubs. Let's say you're in six hearts and West leads a club. You play the jack from dummy and ruff East's queen, but what do you do next?

It is clear that you should lead trumps, hoping for a 2-2 division, but when you cash the Q-J, East follows once and then shows out.

It would be wrong to draw West's last trump at this point because you would then have to depend entirely on a 3-2 diamond break. Instead you should start to think in terms of a 4-1 diamond division and how you can cope with it if it exists.

The slam is pretty nearly hopeless, so you proceed on the basis that East has them.

Accordingly, you cash the ace of diamonds and continue with a diamond. West shows out and may ruff or not, as he sees fit, but whatever he does, the slam is in the bag.

If he ruffs, you play low from dummy and later trump a diamond, while if he discards, you win with the king and continue with a diamond. East wins, but cannot stop you from ruffing a diamond in dummy to establish your last one as a trick.

Note that each step in this series of plays has a sound foundation. You start out hoping for a 2-2 trump break, but adjust your play to the 3-1 division when it develops.

You then assume a 4-1 diamond division and consign the four of them to East because that is a prerequisite for making the contract.

Finally, you cope with West's singleton diamond by cashing the ace and then leading toward the king, rather than cashing the king and then leading toward the ace (which would be fatal).

Bridge is a highly logical game!

Al-Anon Could Be Alcoholism Cure

Dear Ann Landers: Me — writing to you. I can't believe it. But I have something to say — in fact I want to shout it to the world.

A wonderful thing has happened. My husband has stopped drinking. He might have experienced this miracle ten years ago if I hadn't been ashamed to admit I was married to an alcoholic. I guess I had to wait until things got so bad I was willing to do anything. Well, they got that bad four months ago. I took a friend's advice and attended my first meeting of Al-Anon.

What great people I met at that meeting! They never push themselves. They just let you know they are available if you need them.

I learned how to handle my shame and anxiety over my husband's drinking. I learned why people drink too much and what members of the family can do to help them. When I became better informed and able to cope with the problem of living with an alcoholic, my husband announced he was ready to go to an A.A. meeting. And this is where the miracle happened.

Tell your readers, Ann, if they have this booze trouble in their lives, to run, not walk, to the nearest telephone. If Al-Anon isn't listed, call the police station and ask where the nearest chapter is. The next step is to go there. It's worth the trouble. — Edmonton, Canada

Dear Ed: Thanks for your letter. Anyone who wants information about Al-Anon should write to the National Headquarters in New York. The address is: Al-Anon, Family Group Headquarters, Inc., P.O. Box 182, Madison Square Station, New York, New York 10010.

Dear Ann Landers: Your advice to Stunned In Stamford was good — as far as you went — but you didn't go far enough.

After several months of intensive counseling I now know a domineering mother can make an adulterer out of her son. A mama's boy cannot relate properly to his wife because she is a respectable woman and an extension of Mom. Such a husband is constantly dragging women to bed, trying to prove himself. Sex with his wife does nothing for him because it is legal and therefore respectable.

When these little boys learn to let go of their mothers they develop a better relationship with their wives and cut out the bed-hopping. I know because I did it. — Tyler, Texas

Dear Tex: There are almost as many reasons for bed-hopping as there are beds. Thanks for your theory. I'll run it up the flagpole and see if anybody salutes.

Dear Ann Landers: Several weeks ago the husband of a close friend made a pass at me. I was dumbfounded by the openness of his approach and the vulgarity of his language.

Now I am repulsed by the sight of him and have said no to all his wife's dinner invitations and suggestions that the four of us have another weekend trip together. She cannot understand it and neither can my husband. Shall I tell them both why I don't want to be in the man's company? I'm beginning to look like the villainess and this is unfair to me. Please advise. — Panic Button

Dear Pan: Say nothing. See the woman during the day and tell your husband you no longer enjoy them as a couple. No details are necessary.

WHEREVER WE LIVE

Harold assured Dave and Tommy that moving day did not mean the end of life for us. In fact, we were not going to the end of the earth. Many people would still be around us. Of course, not our same favorite people . . . whom we will keep on loving even though we don't see them . . . but new friends who would find places in our lives.

And that's the way it happened.

Our new neighbors opened their hearts to us. Our boys brought school friends home with them to play and sometimes to eat dinner.

Best of all, our family found a new church home — among people who welcomed us because they loved God. Anywhere we go in our country, there is always a church where we can worship with other people.

You, too, can find one wherever you move — and right where you are now.

Golf's Big Three Still Alive In PGA

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — "They keep saying the Big Three is dead," said Gary Player. "Take my word for it, they've never been more alive than today."

The tough, little South African's challenging words were spoken as the PGA Golf Championship took on a definite establishment complexion—with a sprinkling of mods—going into the climactic final two rounds today and Sunday.

"I've always said I'll take Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus and play anybody in the world for any stakes. Nobody's ever taken me up on the offer."

Big 3 Nickname
The Big Three is a nickname—some contend a misnomer—given to Nicklaus, Palmer and Player in the 1960s when they were dominating the major championships.

Many observers argue that no present day golfer of golf's greats is complete without Bill Casper. Others say the old stars are wearing out and the new kids are moving in.

But here are the game's giants—within two shots of each other and no more than four strokes off the pace—after two rounds of wrestling with the 6,962-yard, par-70 Southern Hills course without anybody breaking par for 36 holes.

Outsiders In Front
Dave Stockton and Larry Hinson, a couple of rank outsiders, are in front at even-par 140, followed by Mike Hill, Mason Rudolph and Hale Irwin at 141. Most of the eyes, however, are on the guys just behind.

Player, Palmer and Casper are at 142, along with Dick Lotz, Nicklaus is one of seven bracketed at 144, including defending champion Ray Floyd. There are nine at 143, among them the always dangerous Julius Boros and Gene Littler.

No one could recall when Palmer, Nicklaus, Player and Casper were so closely bunched and in contention in a major tournament. All four were hopelessly out of it in the U.S. Open, won by Britain's Tony Jacklin, and Player failed to make the cut in the British Open, which went to Nicklaus.

"I have been playing miserably," Player said after shooting a 68 Friday, one of the four sub-par rounds of the day. "I lost my game when I flew home this summer and didn't practice."

"It's not possible for anyone to practice harder than I have here this week. After each round, I have gone to the tee and hit balls for three hours."

"I am determined to win the grand slam one more time around then throw in my clubs."

Player One Of Four
Player is one of four men who have won the Masters, British and U.S. Opens and the PGA.

The others are Ben Hogan and Gene Sarazen, no longer active, and Nicklaus, who only needs the PGA to score a second sweep.

Player, who has two British Opens, needs a repeat in the Masters, U.S. Open and PGA.

"I want to beat Nicklaus to it," he said, "but I'm afraid I've blown my chance. He'll probably get there before I do. I have been a runner-up in the British a couple of times and I was just a shot off in the PGA last year. I'm superstitious. I feel that fate gives you only so many opportunities. If you don't grab them, they don't come your way again."

Player's 68 tied Lou Graham, 143, as the best of the day. Irwin and Bert Yancey had 69s. Nicklaus, who tied John Miller for the first round with 68, had a 76, Palmer a 72, Casper a steady 70.

"More is nogga dag," said Player. "That means tomorrow is another in South Africa."

Mann Boots 5 Field Goals In Easy Win

BUFFALO (AP) — The Buffalo Bills got the point Friday night—the point, that is, of Errol Mann's toe.

Mann booted five field goals for the Detroit Lions and kicked an extra-point, accounting for 16 of the Lions' points as they beat the Bills 22-6 in an exhibition game.

Mann, who played his college ball at North Dakota and is now in his third year of pro ball, kicked field goals of 24, 34, 20, 30 and 31 yards.

His foot made the difference because the only other scoring by the Lions was a four-yard touchdown run by Mel Farr in the second quarter. Mann even got in that act, converting for the extra point.

The Bills didn't score until the closing minutes of the game when they mounted a 41-yard drive and sent O. J. Simpson crashing through right tackle for a touchdown. The Bills didn't even get a chance to convert because of a bad snap from center.

A crowd of 31,610 fans showed up at War Memorial Stadium for the game, the first here this season and featuring a pair of Heisman Trophy winners—O. J. Simpson who won it in 1968 and Lions' rookie Steve Owens of Oklahoma who won it last year.

Owens played only the first half. He carried the ball 10 times for a total of 38 yards. Simpson was in most of the game. He also had 10 carries for a total yardage of 31.

O. J. also caught three passes for a total of 37 yards. One of the pass plays covered 24 yards.

Michigan State athletic teams have won 15 NCAA championships in six different sports.

Tigers Upended By Angels 7-3

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — The Detroit Tigers tonight will try to lower the pennant hopes of the California Angels, which they raised so high Friday.

The Tigers lost of California 7-3, pushing the Angels to within 4½ games of the American League Western Division leading Minnesota Twins. It was the 14th loss for Tiger pitcher Mickey Lolich.

Detroit, now 3rd place in the league's East Division and 12 games behind first place Baltimore, meets California again tonight with pitcher Joe Niekro. Niekro, 10-10 for the season, will face Angel rookie Lloyd Allen.

Lolich Discouraging

Lolich, hoping for his 11th win of the season, had a discouraging first three innings.

The Angels knocked two off him in the first and then got two singles in the second, to set up a scoring flurry on a high home run by pitcher Clyde Wright.

The Tigers looked good when they loaded the bases on a hit by Lolich, a grounder by Dick McAuliffe and a walk by Al Kaline. But Bill Freehan struck out to end the inning.

The Angels made it 5-0 in the bottom of the third on a hit by Jim Fregosi and a homer by Tommie Reynolds, his 18th of the season.

Tiger Rally 5

Ike Brown took over as a pinch hitter for Lolich in the 4th and knocked in a run after Jim Northrup and Cesar Gutierrez Scored.

When trainer George Poole trained Hall of Fame for Greentree Stable he wore the same suit, tie, shoes and socks on days when the horse won four stakes races within several weeks.

Michigan State baseball coach Danny Litwhiler rejoined old Philadelphia Phillie teammates to face former players from the Philadelphia Athletics in the 1970 Old Timers' game in the Quaker City. He singled on his one trip to the plate which led to his team's winning run.

FCC Orders 'Equal Time' For GOP Foes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Noting President Nixon has made five nationally televised speeches on the Vietnam war in the last month, the Federal Communications Commission has ruled the network must give time for opposing views.

The FCC, in the ruling announced Friday, said it was neither criticizing the network's news coverage of the war nor discouraging broadcast of presidential reports.

The critical consideration, the FCC said, is whether the public has a reasonable opportunity to be informed when the leading spokesman for one side uses five prime-time opportunities to present his views.

The case for rebuttal time could not be made on the basis of one presidential speech the commission said.

The FCC decided the question in response to complaints filed under the fairness doctrine by the Committee for Fair Broadcasting of Controversial Issues, Business Executives Move for Vietnam Peace and 14 U.S. senators.

Network spokesmen declined comment on the ruling.

The doctrine requires a broadcast licensee who presents one side of a controversial question to give the public a reasonable opportunity to be informed on other sides of the question.

The FCC also ordered the Columbia Broadcasting System to give the Republican Party an opportunity to reply to a July 7 television program by Democrats.

The commission said that while CBS acted in good faith in giving Democrats time to reply to President Nixon, the presentation did not fulfill the network's intention.

Lindbergh Joins Expedition Into Mindanao Woods

MANILA (AP) — Charles Lindbergh, the famous American aviator and conservationist, joined an expedition into the forests of Mindanao this week to learn first hand about the lives and problems of ancient tribal people.

Lindbergh, 66, accompanied a party led by Manuel "Mando" Elizalde, the secretary and director of the Presidential Arm for National Minorities (PANAMIN).

The government organization is dedicated to assisting minority people of this island nation who are being threatened by expanding cities and pushed from their centuries-old dwelling places by settlers, loggers and miners.

"I'm going along to learn," Lindbergh said. "Secretary Elizalde is doing an extraordinary job. If I can help in any way, I'll be glad to do whatever I can. It's the first program like this I know of."

In four days, the expedition made repeated forays into the jungled mountains and forests. The team rode helicopters, log trucks, buses and river launches and tramped for hours over steep mountain ridges.

Star Of India To Sail Again

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The Star of India, billed as the oldest iron ship afloat, is spreading her wings again.

Scampering over the 205-foot vessel, crew members will spend 25,000 square feet of nylon sail Aug. 20, her first full sail since her arrival in 1967 as a waterfront museum.

Her journey here began with launch Nov. 14, 1958, on the Isle of Man and included trading trips on the England-India, West Coast-Alaska routes.

In all, the Star of India made 27 round-the-world trips.

At a cost of $9,000 she was purchased for the San Diego Zoological Society to be turned into a museum moored to the downtown waterfront. About 140,000 persons a year inspect her decks, her paneled quarters and exhibits of cutlasses, sea chests, ship models and a log from Admiral Farragut's flagship Hartford.

The Maritime Museum Association, a nonprofit educational corporation with civic leaders as directors, owns the Star. The mayor of the ship, Kenneth Reynolds, has directed a $400,000 restoration since 1961.

"The hull is original," says Reynolds, a costume boat designer and sailmaker who built his shipboard office under the poop deck.

"The masts were original with the exception of the top gallant and royal masts. There were parts we had to add to her to complete us, but in most cases what we put into her was identical to the deteriorated parts we had to remove."

Despite being moored a half-century, Reynolds says "the Star of India is a seaworthy ship, in my opinion, about 85 per cent as strong as she was during her first voyage."

Derailed Of Train Causes Heavy Damage

MELVERN, Kan. (AP) — Two derailed tankcars of liquid petroleum gas exploded and hurled splashes of flaming fuel over four blocks of this small Eastern Kansas town.

The explosion sent flames 2,000 feet into the air and shook the whole town, said Francis Jones, assistant fire chief.

The fireballs started dozens of fires in buildings and yards.

Twelve of the town's 600 residents were injured, some hit by fireballs, others scared as they fled.

Two homes, the Methodist church, two city maintenance sheds, a 4-H building and a bridge that carried a street over the tracks were destroyed. Other homes were damaged.

Mayor Bill Kartens estimated the loss at $800,000.

In all, 27 cars of a 113-car Santa Fe train piled up in a quarter-mile jumble late Friday afternoon. The deralement occurred in a long cut and on a sharp curve at the edge of town. Santa Fe officials said the train was traveling about 30 miles an hour. They said they were investigating to determine the cause of the deralement.

The blast knocked out telephone service, and Army Engineers at the Melvern dam project used radio-telephone to summon help.

Fire trucks and ambulances sped from Topeka, 35 miles to the north. Ottawa, Lyndon, Forbes Air Force Base, and rural fire districts.

Melvern's 40,000-gallon water tower was nearly drained, and water was trucked from the dam project.

Five persons were admitted to a Topeka hospital and two to the Forbes AFB hospital. Others were treated by their physicians.

Those in the hospitals were in satisfactory or fair condition with burns on legs, feet, hands and arms.

Chavez Putting Final Dressing Into 'Salad Bowl'

SALINAS, Calif. (AP) — A sudden agreement has ended a battle between two unions over which will represent field workers in the "salad bowl" region of the nation's most productive agricultural state.

The pact with the Teamster's Union this week opened the field for Cesar Chavez and his AFL-CIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee to broaden organizational efforts throughout the western United States and Canada.

Chavez, victor less than a month ago in a five-year strike-boycott struggle with table grape growers, declared war last week on a Teamster agreement to represent Salinas Valley field hands.

The dispute quickly developed into a bitter strike, which ended after only a few days when the Catholic Bishops Committee on Farm Labor announced that the Teamsters had agreed to let Chavez handle future organizing of field workers.

The pact was signed by William Grami, field director of the Western Conference of Teamsters, whose area extends from California to Alaska, from Hawaii to the Rocky Mountains and in British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan, Canada.

Clean Air Group Introduces Some Anti-Smog Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifteen House members has announced the formation of an informal congressional Clean Air Committee and jointly introduced a series of anti-smog amendments.

One provision of the new legislation would require auto manufacturers to substitute a low-emission engine for the present internal combustion engine in new cars by Jan. 1, 1975.

Rep. Edward I. Koch, D-N.Y., in introducing the bill, said the deadline would give car-makers a needed economic incentive to change to a steam or electric propulsion system.

"The alternative is to go out of business," he said.

The bill also would establish national emission standards for individual and corporate polluters, and require them to file quarterly reports on the substance and quantity of their emissions into the atmosphere.

It provides that individuals could bring suits against polluters or against government agencies for not enforcing the pollution control laws.

Imitation Weapon Sale Ban Asked At All Airports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration has asked airport operators to ban the sale of knives or imitation weapons at terminals to prevent their possible use by skyjackers.

Carl F. Malach, FAA security chief, has confirmed airport management have been asked to discourage vendors from making such articles readily available to shoppers at airports.

The request was contained in a letter to members of the Airport Operators Council International and the American Association of Airport Executives.

It asked airport operators to discourage the sale of items such as knives, daggers, imitation revolvers, and cigarette lighters shaped like hand grenades.

Demos Planning Kick-Off Picnic

LANSING (AP) — A Democratic fund-raising picnic, mixing the smell of hot dogs with what party officials call "the scent of victory," is slated for Sunday in Manchester.

The picnic, to be held at the farm of former Gov. John Swainson, will kick off what Democratic State Chairman State Chairman James McNeely calls "the hardest hitting campaign Michigan has seen in years."

Among top party people scheduled to attend are U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, Democratic gubernatorial candidate Sander Levin, Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, Swainson and former Gov. G. Mennen Williams. Also on hand will be Judge T. John Leonski, chief of the state appeals court, Detroit Recorder's Court Judge Robert Evans, Leonski, Evans, Williams and Swainson, now a Wayne County Circuit Court Judge, all are seeking the party's nominations for the State Supreme Court.

Thieves Rob Store Operated By Ex-Convicts

NEW YORK (AP) — An employee of a store operated by ex-convicts, finding it had been burglarized of $1,000 worth of cash and goods, said Friday "I used to be a burglar myself—it's kind of ironic."

Stanley Eldridge, 30, recently released from the Rikers Island prison, discovered the burglary when he arrived to open the store.

"I didn't think we'd come to it, but I guess we'll have to have a burglar alarm installed," said Prentice Williams, 33, another ex-convict who is now outside sales co-ordinator.

Agnew To Tour Asian Territory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew takes off for Asia Aug. 28 for a nine-day goodwill trip to South Korea, Taiwan, Thailand and South Vietnam.

The trip is to "demonstrate the President's continuing personal interest in that area of the world," the White House said Thursday.

President Nixon asked Agnew to meet with heads of state and bring back firsthand reports updating the impressions Agnew gained on his first Asian trip last December. White House Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said.

Vatican Resumes Diplomatic Ties With Yugoslavia

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican and Yugoslavia resumed full diplomatic relations today.

Simultaneous announcements at the Vatican and in Belgrade said the Communist regime and the Holy See would exchange ambassadors again. The only other Communist country with which the Vatican has ambassadorial relations is Cuba.

Yugoslavia and the Vatican renewed relations in 1966 after a 14-year break, but business has been conducted up to now through lower-level missions.

Marshall Tito's regime severed relations in 1966 because Pope Pius XII named Archbishop Alojzije Stepinac of Zagreb a cardinal. Stepinac was in prison on charges of collaborating with the Nazis but maintained that he was innocent. His death in 1960 opened the way for the improvement in relations.

The commission reviewed but took no action on a proposal to place a general ban on winter spear fishing in inland waters starting with the 1973 season.

It was explained the early closing of the proposal was made to gauge public reaction. Final hearings will be held before final action is taken.

Schedule Meet

LANSING (AP)—Gov. William Milliken will meet with President Nixon at the White House Monday to discuss economic and environmental issues.

"The primary purpose for the meeting is to examine ways that the federal government can help ease the adverse impact that the downturn in the nation's economy is having on Michigan," Milliken said.

"Specifically, I plan to request action through such programs as manpower training and youth projects."

Milliken said he also wants to discuss his proposal for a national clearing house to register and monitor chemicals released into the environment.

The Milliken proposal was adopted unanimously by the midwestern and national government conferences.

Zion Lutheran Church

85th Anniversary

Lutheran Church Sets Special Rites

The Zion Lutheran Church congregation will observe the 85th anniversary of the church's founding Sunday during the 10:30 a.m. worship service.

A highlight of the observance will be the dedication of the new church organ with Rev. Charles W. Malloch, pastor of the Dove of Peace Lutheran Church, Tucson, Ariz., as guest organist. He is the son of Mrs. Earl Malloch Sr., 606 Arbutus Ave.

Refreshments will be served in Augustana Hall following the service with the LCW as hostesses.

Manistique's Zion Lutheran Church was organized in 1885 as the Scandinavian Lutheran Church under the leadership of a Norwegian pastor, the Rev. J. J. Maeksted. The original church membership was 19 families or 65 individuals.

The first church building was built on the site of the present church in 1885 and the present structure built in 1906. In 1962 a brick wing was added to the church housing church school classrooms, all-purpose room, kitchen and church offices.

Because of national church realignments and language changes, the congregation was called the Swedish Evangelical Lutheran Church for many years. The present name was adopted in 1921. The church is now affiliated with the Lutheran Church in America and has a membership of 768.

The congregation has been served by 18 pastors. Rev. Ingmar L. Levin, present pastor, has served since 1959.

Downturn In Economy Aids Bill Collectors

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill collecting is one business that has profited from the economic downturn, credit experts say. The American Collectors Association—ACA—reports that the number of delinquent accounts referred by businessmen to its 2,800 member agencies last month was 20 per cent higher than a year earlier and the third highest for any month in history.

The rising cost of living, tight money, layoffs and uncertainty about job security are cited by credit authorities as reasons some consumers are either slower in paying their bills or failing to pay them altogether.

"People are being laid off and seasonal workers are finding it harder to get jobs. Where there's a lot of uncertainty about what's going to happen, the consumer holds onto money as long as he can," says an ACA spokesman.

"People have built up a tolerance to nonpayment," adds Morton Goldberg, a New York attorney specializing in bill collections. "Since the beginning of the year, there's been more and more of this. People have the money but won't part with it."

The real problem areas, the officials say, are where unemployment is high.

In Seattle, where the Boeing Co. has laid off thousands of employees since the first of the year, the credit manager of a large department store says that "payments are much slower now and we have many more delinquent accounts. This kind of a situation is bound to hurt both sales and payments."

In Boston, where a cutback by the government in its aerospace program has contributed to a slackening in the local economy, the State Street Bank and Trust Co. reports a "slight lag in bill payments." However, it adds: "There is a tendency for payments to lag a little in summer months."

Protein Search Now Under Way

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists are rummaging through trash cans, sifting the seas and harvesting fungi and germs in the quest for cheap, plentiful sources of protein, the body's most important tissue builder.

Their search, reported at the Third International Congress on Food Science and Technology now underway here, is fueled by the realization that in the standing-room-only world of the future—and in already crowded countries—space is at a premium for the animals which provide men with protein.

Protein deficiency is a vital factor in the 10,000 deaths the United Nations estimates occur daily from hunger or malnutrition.

In the United States, according to an Agriculture Department survey, most people get more than enough protein. North Americans on the average eat 66 grams of animal protein a person per day, supplemented by milk, eggs and cereals.

But the individual consumption of animal protein in the Near East averages 14 grams, in Africa 11 grams and in Asia 8 grams.

It is in the animal-poor countries where scientists are pressing hardest to extract the proteins directly from grasses, grains and other substances.

South Africans, Colombians and Guatemalans are already drinking beverages endowed with the exotic-sounding names of "Pro-Nutro" and "Incaparina" and fortified by protein extracted from soybeans. Indians enrich biscuits and candies with peanut flour. And even in the United States, firms are test-marketing protein-enriched flour and noodles.

The products being tapped for protein depend on what's available: corn tassels at Kansas State University, sugar cane waste in Colombia, coconuts in The Philippines, weeds in Portugal, "junk fish" in Seattle, fungi and bacteria in England, seaweed, algae and microbes in Japan.

Report Released On Blue Collar Workers In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten Jerome M. Rosow—denied the delay had been caused by controversy over its findings, which had leaked earlier.

It covered 10 million workers earning $5,000 to $10,000 a year. "They are overpaid for a political response to the pressing needs they feel so keenly," it said.

Their income peaks when their family expenditures are heaviest, they suffer the most from inflation and their jobs lack status, the report said.

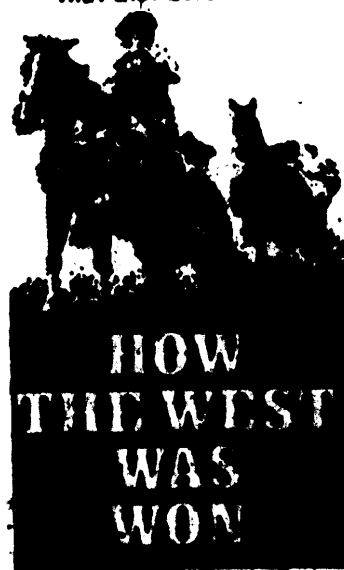

Many get no paid sick leave, pension plans or life insurance and most never expect a promotion to a better job.

Conviction Stays
For 'Chicago Five'

CHICAGO (AP) — A motion to reverse the conviction of five persons found guilty of crossing state lines to incite rioting the week of the 1968 Democratic National Convention has been denied by a federal appeals court.

Still pending is their appeal on grounds other than the electronic surveillance cited in the rejected motion.

Defense attorneys had argued in their motion that illegal electronic surveillance of telephone conversations was used to obtain the convictions.

The 7th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled that surveillance logs submitted to it contain no evidence of eavesdropping on the defendants, their attorneys or their staff.

The defendants convicted in a five-month U.S. District Court trial are David T. Dellinger, Richard C. "Rennie" Davis, Abbott "Abbie" Hoffman, Jerry C. Rubin and Thomas Hayden.
